$50 Pension at 60 Years Urged

East Edmonton MP Enters Strong Plea

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)—An appeal for government action to assist elderly Canadians by increasing old-age pensions was made yesterday in the Commons by Angus MacInnis (CCF, Vancouver East) in moving a resolution urging amendment of the act to reduce the eligible pension age from 70 to 60 years. He also recommended increase in pensions and abolition of the means test.

$50 Pensions

Patrick H. Ashby, Social Credit member of Parliament for Edmonton East, who urged in the House of Commons yesterday that old age pensions be raised today to $50 monthly and the eligible age be lowered to 60 years.

GENERAL SUPPORT for the principle of the motion came from Howard Green (PC, Vancouver South), L. P. Picard (L, Bellechasse), L. E. Baker (L, Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare), Pat Ashby (SC, Edmonton East), William Irvine (CCF, Cariboo), T. L. Church (PC, Toronto Broadview) and J. E. Michaud (L, Restigouche-Madawaska).

Mr. Ashby said he had gone into old people's homes and had found them under-nourished, though independent and adverse to taking charity.

Canada had spent millions for war and surely she could spend some money now to assist the older folks.

The present method of dealing with the old people was to "starve them to death." They might as

Pair Praises Alaska Road After Journey

SEATTLE, April 11—(AP)—Philip A. Johnson and Paul G. Greimann of Fairbanks, Alaska, arrived here yesterday after an automobile trip over the highway and reported the route was "a good road . . . well-surfaced and well kept up."

Johnson, vice-president of the Bank of Fairbanks, and Greimann, operator of the Fairbanks University bus line, said they left Fairbanks March 28 and stopped for seven days in Montana before driving on to Seattle. They estimated the distance covered at 3,800 miles.

JOHNSON SAID requests by civilians for permission to travel the route might be denied but "I have it on good authority that anyone who shows up at Dawson Creek, B.C., or at Fairbanks in a well-equipped car with spare parts, extra gasoline, plenty of food and sleeping equipment, plus a reasonable excuse . . . will be allowed to drive" over the road.

Gasoline stations and lunch rooms are about 350 miles apart on the highway, they said.

The highway, built under direction of United States Army engineers by the American government, was turned over to the Canadian government last Wednesday in a brief ceremony two miles from Whitehorse, Y.T. The highway now is under control of the Canadian Army.

Hint Women Plan March on Ottawa

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—Hints that a protest deputation of Canadian women may march on Ottawa if the federal government persists in its plan to lift the milk subsidy and increase the price of milk to consumers were voiced last night at a public meeting as angry housewives approved two resolutions urging the government to continue the subsidies on the "basic necessities of life," and to maintain price control.

Copies of the resolutions will be forwarded to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and prices board officials.

"Milk is an essential food and we must make a fighting march out of this," said Mrs. May Birchard, city councillor, in her address to the gathering, held under the auspices of the Housewives' Association and the Toronto Trades and Labor Council (CCL).

Farm Operations Delayed by Snow

Recent snows in the Edmonton district have delayed local farmers from commencing spring operations, according to officials of the department of agriculture Thursday, but should the present sunny weather and drying winds continue, most of them should be on the land by the first part of next week.

SPRING WORK has been under way in the south of the province for some time now, officials stated, but would hazard no guess as to how far north the area has extended.

It was also thought that in the country from Camrose east, which did not get the recent snows, work will have already commenced.

Jap Reds Show Strength in Vote

TOKYO, April 11—(BUP)—The Communist party showed unexpected strength today in early returns from the Japanese national election, but trailed the darkhorse Social Democrats and the powerful conservative - minded Progressive and Liberal parties by large margins.

The Social Democrats held an early lead with 37 candidates definitely seated in the election to choose 466 members of the Diet (parliament). The Liberals had elected 35, the Progressives 34, the Communists three, Co-operatives three, minor parties 10 and Independents 35.

Fifteen women were among those who had won on the basis of early returns chiefly from urban sections.

Counting of an estimated 20,000,000 ballots still was far from complete, but competent observers predicted that the Communists might win 15 seats, the most optimistic non-partisan prediction had been that they would get six.

Hint Peace Talks Are on in Iran

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

TEHRAN, April 11.—(AP)—Developments in Tehran indicated today that representatives of Kurdistan, Azerbaijan and the Soviet central government might be conferring somewhere in the mountains near Karaj in the first step toward re-establishing Iran's national unity.

A CABINET MEMBER told reporters that Azerbaijan—where a self - proclaimed autonomous government has been established—had selected a "peace delegation" at a session of Parliament which ended yesterday.

An influential Kurdish landowner from near Saujbulagh (Mehabad)—capital of the so-called "independent Kurdish Republic"—said he had acted as intermediary between the Central Government and Ghazi Mohammed, head of the Iranian Kurds and deputy chief of state for "greater Kurdistan." He said the Kurds were asked to send representatives to a meeting "near Karaj this week."

A BRITISH parliamentary delegation which had planned to leave Iran yesterday, suddenly postponed its return to London and an embassy official said the members of the delegation "went for a picnic near Karaj".

The central government remained silent on the possibility of such a meeting.

Attlee Is Silent On Bread Ration

LONDON, April 11.—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today he could make no statement at the moment about bread rationing, beyond saying the British government was doing everything in its power to increase supplies of wheat from all parts of the world to the countries in need.

He was replying to Opposition Leader Winston Churchill.

Mr. Attlee added that when Food Minister Sir Ben Smith was in Washington recently provisional proposals were made for the distribution of wheat up to the end of June. Unfortunately, he said, it now appeared that supplies from the United States and other supplying countries were not coming forward in sufficient quantities to meet these proposals.

HE ADDED that this failing short would affect not only the countries for which the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was responsible, but also Britain and other parts of the British Commonwealth and Empire including large populations of India. It would also affect occupied countries and other foreign countries in which Britain had a special responsibility.

"This situation can be met only by the united action of all countries, exporters as well as importers, each contributing to the maximum of its ability," Mr. Attlee said.

RCMP Impersonator Reported Findings

TIMMINS, Ont., April 11.—(CP)—Edwin Tabor of Windsor, Ont., plunged himself so thoroughly into a fancied role of Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer, court testimony indicated, that he reported periodically to the RCMP in Renine concerning his "investigations" on their behalf. Tabor, 27, was sentenced Tuesday to a total of six months in jail on two charges of obtaining money under false pretences, of carrying a concealed revolver, and of impersonating an RCMP officer. He pleaded guilty on all four counts.

NEW YORK, April 11.—(BUP)—The United States will support Poland's request for full United Nations Security Council discussion of the Spanish question — now coupled with Nazi atomic and rocket scientists working in Spain, official sources revealed today.

BUT IT PROBABLY will continue to oppose any council action against Generalissimo Francisco Franco now unless Poland produces some air-tight, startling evidence of Franco's sponsorship of Nazi atomic and war weapon research.

Injection of the atomic issue into the Franco Spain problem, however, appeared to ease a little the earlier Anglo-American rigid opposition even to council discussion of Spain.

Poland seems assured of getting her case against Spain on the Council's agenda. It takes only any seven votes of the 11-member Appointment of Robert Warren, superintendent of schools at Killam to be High school inspector, was announced on Thursday morning by Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education.

AN INCREASE in the number of inspectors from three to four created the vacancy to which Mr. Warren was appointed. Dr. Swift explained, but the district to which the new inspector will be allocated has not yet been selected, although it is likely that it will be in the southern part of the province.

He will assume his duties with the opening of next fall's school term.

Meat Black Market Flourishes in East

MONTREAL, April 11—(CP)—The Montreal Gazette said yesterday that "Black market operators are currently peddling beef in Montreal at three to five cents a pound over ceiling prices."

The newspaper said an official of a large meat packing house told of this situation and added that beef black marketing had been particularly bad in the last 10 days." Also, unless the flow of cattle from Western Canada increased, the situation would be considerably worse in the next two or three weeks.

THE OFFICIAL was quoted as saying that western meat producers apparently were holding back cattle to fatten them up, but it was this lack of supplies that caused black marketing.

There was "nothing the matter in Montreal that a few hundred head of cattle a week would not settle."

2 Bandits Foiled in Hold-Up

The screams of a frightened woman frustrated a hold-up attempt on city streets at 1:30 a.m. Thursday when two masked men attempted to rob Mr. and Mrs. J. Love near their home at the Leamington apartments on 114 street.

THE COUPLE, who operate Love's Coffee Shop, 11432 Jasper Avenue were on their way home after closing the shop when the hold-up attempt occurred. Leaving he shop they walked east to 114 street, then north to the apartment building.

As they were passing the lane by the Leamington apartments, two masked men came out behind some parked trucks and one of them stuck something in Mr. Love's back saying "this is a stick-up."

Mrs. Love, terrified at the sudden attack, began to scream and the two men abandoned their hold-up attempt, ran east into the lane and escaped in an old model car parked at the southeast corner of 114 street and Jasper avenue.

POLICE WERE immediately called to the scene and prowler cars combed the area for the robbers but were unable to find any

Nazi "Hatchet Man" On Trial for Crimes

By WALTER CRONKITE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NUERNBERG, April 11.—(BUP)—Scarfaced Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Nazi chief of the security police, glumly told the war crimes court today that "the hatred of the whole world is directed against me," he took full responsibility for everything his henchmen did.

KALTENBRUNNER testified in his own defence, his beady eyes darting nervously about the courtroom and his pasty face twitching.

In a flat, dispassionate voice he recited the story of his rise to the job in which he, as Heinrich Himmler's chief hatchet man, was charged with the mass extermination or dispatch to concentration camps of millions of anti-Nazis.

"I am fully aware of the serious charges of the accusation against me," Kaltenbrunner said. "I know that the hatred of the whole world is directed against me personally since Himmler and the others are dead, leaving me the only man to answer for them.

"I AM AWARE THAT I have to tell the truth, and this tribunal and the world must be in position to

River Expected To Go Out Soon

Despite a prolonged spell of mild weather in Edmonton and district, ice on the Saskatchewan river has not yet broken up, Edmontonians with a yen for betting still had time to place their wagers, as indications point to the ice going out at any minute.

Woman, Man Held In Cabby's Death

WINNIPEG, April 11—(CP)—Held as material witnesses, a young married woman and a man companion are in custody of police today following investigation of the iron-bar slaying of Johann Johnson, 48-year-old taxi driver, killed in suburban Tuxedo March 31.

POLICE CHIEF George Smith announced Mrs. Helen Berard, 28-year-old mother of three children, and Lawrence Deacon 33-year-old war veteran, had been taken into custody on a coroner's warrant.

Johnson's body was found in a field a short distance from his blood-spattered car. He had been beaten to death, his skull fractured by a series of blows. Police said robbery was the motive. Footprints of two persons were found near the taxi.

On April 3, near where the body was found, police discovered what they believe to be the murder weapon—a long iron bar or bolt, such as used in bridge building or heavy construction work.

CHIEF SMITH said a lead supplied by a suburban dairyman had led to the arrests.

The dairyman had informed police that a woman, mud-spattered, shoeless and bedraggled, had come to his home early in the morning of March 31, and had asked for directions, seeking another house in the vicinity. The dairy farm is two miles from where Johnson was bludgeoned to death.

Police said Mrs. Berard was first questioned Tuesday night, and later Deacon was brought to headquarters.

MRS. BERARD, wife of a Hong Kong veteran, told police a drinking party had been held at her home and that after a quarrel with her husband, she left. Deacon was at the party and left the house a short time after Mrs. Berard.

Further details of the couple's movements were withheld by police.

"No charge has been placed against either of these individuals," said Chief Smith. "They are held on a coroner's warrant as material witnesses."

THEY WILL BE called at the inquest scheduled for April 16.

Death of Johnson was the second taxi murder in Winnipeg within six months. The other victim was Arthur Badger, 60-year-old driver, fatally slugged in suburban St. James.

Crown Rests Case Against Alleged Spy

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)—The crown rested its case against H. S. Gerson, 43, former munitions department employee, today after Igor Gouzenko had testified that he had knowingly broken his oath to Russia to take from the Soviet embassy documents that have become the basis of the prosecution of 14 Canadians who face espionage charges.

FORMER EMBASSY cipher clerk, Gouzenko, speaking slowly in answer to a barrage of defence counsel questions, was on the stand before Magistrate Glenn Strike for nearly an hour.

The only other crown witness was Roger Malley, director of the ammunition production branch of the munitions department under whom Gerson once worked.

Manchuria Deadlock Is Still Continuing

From Canadian Press, Associated Press and British United Press dispatches

Chinese government quarters in Chungking charged today that "tens of thousands" of Communist troops are streaming into Manchuria and efforts to break the National-Communist deadlock over Manchuria again failed.

Government reports from Chungchun charged that despite Soviet promises to turn over Manchurian cities to the Nationalists the Russians at many points were giving aid to Communist forces.

A strong protest was made to the Russian command, it was reported, against the action of Russian tanks in destroying barbed-wire barricades which the Nationalists had erected as protection against Communist attacks.

Chinese Nationalist forces were ordered not to fire at the Soviet tanks but government commanders reported increasing concern at the influx of Communist forces which were said to be preparing for a large-scale offensive against the Peiping-Mukden railroad.

and added if there was no police protection "I wouldn't be safe."

MR. BEAMENT: "So your safety depends on the protection of the government of Canada?"

Gouenzko: "And on myself."

Mr. Beament: "Alone, you could not protect yourself?"

Gouzenko: "I know very well there are agents who . . . would kill me."

Gouzenko testified nearly an hour before leaving the court under guard.

HE LISTENED while lawyers argued as to which of the eight charges the hearing would be based on. He was called as a witness by Lee Kelley, special crown prosecutor, Counsel finally agreed to base the case on a charge under section 31B of the official Secrets Act.

Gerson, from 1941 to 1944, was with a crown company—Allied War Supplies Ltd.—directed by the Munitions Department. Its products were chemicals and explosives.

Before Gerson's case was called five other cases of espionage were adjourned to April 16. They concerned Prof. Isreal Halperin, Eric Adams, Dr. David Shugar, J. S. Benning, and Sqdn. Ldr. Fred Poland.

MAGISTRATE STRIKE said that starting next Tuesday he might start holding night sessions to clear up the espionage cases.

Gouzenko said he had "several" my connections" with the Russian embassy Sept. 5, 1945. Gouzenko identified a document as one he had seen in the office of the military attache there.

The document had been kept in a steel safe in this room which was in charge of Col. N. Zabotin, former military attache and alleged head of a Russian network of agents. It had been among mail sealed for Moscow but Gouzenko had removed it when he left.

Details of the document were not disclosed immediately.

During cross examination Defence Counsel A. W. Beament started an attempt to discredit the evidence of Gouzenko.

MR. BEAMENT obtained an affirmative reply to a question as to whether Gouzenko took an oath of loyalty and secrecy in his capacity as a cipher clerk at the Russian embassy.

"Then you are in the same position as the accused?" asked Mr. Beament.

"It is up to me to judge," replied Gouzenko.

Mr. Beament: "Why did you break your oaths?"

"I broke the oaths (to Russia) . . . because I was certain they bound me to wrong ideas which absolutely can't be tolerated with ideas of democracy. . ."

"IN OTHER WORDS because you changed your political views?"

"Yes."

"Do you consider that enough to warrant breaking your oath?"

"Yes."

Mr. Beament asked Gouzenko if he was a Christian. Gouzenko replied in the affirmative.

Questioned about a document filed in an exhibit which he said had come from the Russian embassy, the little Russian said it was the one sheet he had taken from a parcel of mail sealed for Moscow when he left the embassy the night of Sept. 5, 1945.

HE HAD, HOWEVER, taken other documents, including files telegrams, memos.

He had taken the majority "at the last minute" that evening. But for a month previous he had been "selecting" documents which would not be missed

The Gerson hearing was adjourned temporarily so that Gouzenko might identify some of the documents connected with the case of another accused, Durnford Smith of Hull, Que., a National Research Council radio expert.

GOUZENKO identified a document handed as one that was attached to a Russian embassy file bearing Dunford Smith's name. He identified other documents which he said he had taken from the Embassy secret room.

Gouzenko was then allowed to leave the courtroom accompanied by his bodyguards.

Mr. Beament informed the court that it was his intention to object to the admissibility of evidence taken before the Royal Commission investigating the espionage activities. He would argue that the evidence was improperly obtained and he had subpeonaed witnesses whom he hoped would prove the evidence was improperly obtained.

THE COURT then resumed the Gerson hearing.

Rodger Malley, then called a crown witness, said he was director of the ammunition production branch of the munitions department. Gerson, he said, had been in charge of the production and records section of that branch.

He was shown a bulky group of papers between covers and said they were about ammunition orders. They were confidential.

Mr. Kelley asked, "would Gerson have access to it?"

"Yes."

"Was he required to by his duties?"

"No."

MR. MALLEY SAID the document contained details of the methods used to fill shells with RDX, the secret explosive. He said Gerson would have no need for the details in his work.

The information wasn't available to the public and was only to be made available to authorized persons. He did not consider a foreign government an authorized person.

Mr. Beament then began cross questioning.

Mr. Malley said there were a number of persons in his branch who would be interested in the technical end of shell filling. Mr. Beament referred to these persons as the headquarters' part.

"Gerson was on the headquarters' part?" asked Mr. Beament.

"Yes," replied Mr. Malley.

WITNESS SAID there was no registration of documents as they were taken from file for use in the department. He could see no reason why traces would not open any documents addressed to Mr. Malley trace of them. Police were continuing their investigations Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Love said that the men were roughly dressed, wearing dark overcoats and hats, and said that both would weigh about 160 pounds. One was described as five feet, 10 inches tall and the other two inches shorter. Ages were estimated to be from 22 years to 25 years.

NEITHER WERE ABLE to state that the hold-up men had used a gun, although they were sure that the larger of the two men had "something in his hand." Both Chief Constable Reg. Jennings and Det. Inspector Bert Petheram indicated Thursday that it was doubtful if the men had a gun. "They were probably just trying to pull a bluff and became alarmed when Mrs. Love screamed," Chief Jennings said.

Additional information concerning the car used by the escaping bandits was supplied by R. H. Jones of McNeill's taxi office, who said that he had observed the car parked near the taxi office earlier in the evening and said that it was a 1930 to 1933 light grey Chevrolet.

ALTHOUGH information supplied to the police concerning the two men was very meagre, they were busy checking every detail and angle of the case Thursday in hopes of a lead that would bring about the arrest of the two men.

Council to do so. But for Council action afterward, the seven votes must include each of the Big Five.

SECRETARY OF STATE James F. Byrnes delivered his instructions to American delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., late yesterday—after Poland's formal complaint against Spain was filed with UN secretary general Trygve Lie, and after Polish sources revealed existence of evidence indicating that Nazi scientists, hiding in Spain, may be working on atomic, rocket and other weapon research under Franco's auspices.

This allegation exploded like an atomic bomb in UN Security Council circles.

IT WAS LEARNED immediately from American official sources that Byrnes had instructed Stettinius to support to the hilt Poland's request to discuss the Spanish situation and to present her evidence to the council.

Although the United States still doesn't believe Franco's demise would be hastened by council action, and that his position might be strengthened, Byrnes instructions to Stettinius are:

1. Support Poland's request to have her complaint against Spain placed on the council agenda.

2. Oppose any move by anyone that would prevent Poland from presenting her complete case against the Franco regime, especially any information she has about Franco's support of Nazi scientists working on atomic or other war weapons.

3. KEEP AN OPEN mind and vote thereafter as the merits of Poland's case, in the light of evidence produced, deserve.

As of today the United States is adamantly opposed to security council action against Franco Spain. But the United States also has become the chief advocate in the council of letting any United Nation—big or little, council member or non-council member—present to the council any situation which it thinks threatens world peace.

It happens that the United States —rightly or wrongly—doesn't think that the Franco regime endangers world peace. It is on record as believing that the situation in Spain —as much as the U.S. government dislikes it—is now an internal matter.

BUT BYRNES AND Stettinius feel just as strongly that no member of the council, regardless of his prior beliefs on a given situation, should block full council discussion of it if another member thinks differently.

It was on this basic principle that Byrnes and Soviet Council Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko slugged it out toe to toe for two days on the Iranian case. Byrnes won his point and Gromyko walked out of the council and stayed away for 13 days.

Polish Ambassador Oscar Lange first filed his formal complaint against Franco Spain with UN Secretary General Trygve Lie. Part of it charged that the Franco regime "allows and promotes scientific research by German scientists engaged in devising new means of warfare."

AUTHORITATIVE Polish sources revealed later that Poland had evidence that Nazi scientists, hiding in Spain, may be working under the auspices of the Franco regime on atomic and rocket research.

Meanwhile, council delegates settled down to what they hoped would be a quiet four-day recess.

Talks on Spain

THE CABINET SAID its decision was taken in response to an appeal by Fiorello H. La Guardia, new director general of the UNRRA, for more supplies to prevent famine.

The statement said His Majesty's government have given very sympathetic consideration to Mr. La Guardia's appeal."

With wheat the most serious shortage, "His Majesty's government have informed the combined food board they are willing to ration bread in the United Kingdom if the United States are prepared to adopt the same policy," the statement declared.

"Short of this, His Majesty's government are prepared to adopt administrative measures of a comparably effective nature to those which the United States is prepared to adopt, designed to save wheat and flour so that both countries may make their fullest contribution in the interests of the peoples of the world who are faced with starvation and death."

REPORTING THE DECISION, the Exchange Telegraph news agency commented:

"Whatever happens, Britain cannot now be accused either in America or elsewhere or selfishly clinging to higher food standards than the world food situation can justify.

"She shows she is willing to accept any sacrifice that the United States is willing to bear."

In Washington Mr. La Guardia suggested wheat stocks from Britain should be shipped to the continent to halt the immediate threat of famine. It was learned prior to the cabinet announcement that Britain was not anxious to make stocks available for shipment abroad unless there was a definite guarantee the stocks would be replaced almost immediately.

THERE WAS NO disclosure of the amount of Britain's wheat stocks but informed quarters felt that any serious dislocation of supplies might place Britain in an extremely awkward position.

OTTAWA, April 11—(CP)—The British cabinet decision to ration bread if the United States would take similar action stirred little reaction in official circles here last night but it was pointed out that bread rationing in Canada, with the Dominion's small population, would have little effect on the over-all wheat supply.

No major meetings are scheduled for today.

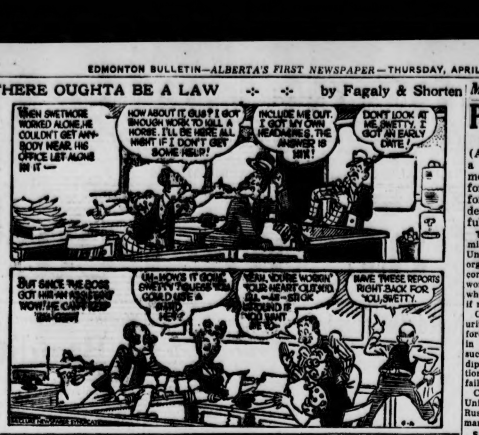

When the council resumes formal work next week, it will still face several vexing problems:

1. Russia's demand that the Iranian case be wiped off its agenda at once without waiting for the May 6 deadline for removal of all Red army troops from Iran. At a secret meeting yesterday the council decided to postpone this issue until next Monday.

2. FAILURE TO FIND a suitable place to house UN for the next few years while a permanent site is selected and headquarters built.

3. Concern about the delay by most of the council members in appointing permanent delegates to the UN atomic energy commission.

4. Revelation that Iranian ambassador Hussein Ala did not act on new instructions when he wrote the security council Tuesday that Iran opposed Russia's move to have the Iranian case taken off the agenda immediately. He said that he was "acting under instructions". Iranian spokesmen declined to reveal when the instructions arrived, but other authoritative sources revealed that they were old ones—not countermanded, to be sure—received before Russia's latest demand.

Answer La Guardia Appeal

Britain Offers Ration Bread If States Will Follow Suit

LONDON, April 11.—(CP)—Britain will ration bread if the United States agrees to do the same, or will match any measures by the United States to save wheat and flour for people facing starvation and death, the cabinet announced last night.

A FORMAL CABINET statement after a special meeting declared "The needs of the UNRRA countries are undoubtedly great, largely because the supplies which the United States hope to export during the current month fall considerably below expectations."

(In Washington a high official of the United States department of agriculture said "It would take 90 days to inaugurate bread rationing here, and the emergency is for the next 75 days."

(He said the department was anxious to do all possible to assist in the food emergency, but emphasized that it did not consider an attempt to ration bread in the United States a solution to the problem.)

Governor-General

been received warmly with cheering crowds appearing at places like Truro, N.S., and Moncton, N.B.

NOT LEAST POPULAR in the special train have been the Alexander children. Possibly the youngest combination ever to live in Rideau hall. Everywhere along the line school children and crowds in the crowd have asked for the young Alexanders to appear, and their appearances have been marked with cheering.

The new governor-general and his family arrived at Halifax yesterday aboard the liner Aquitania.

The governor-general awoke this morning in a winter fairyland. Last night's heavy snowstorm made it January in April along the New Brunswick north shore where little knots of persons stood at wayside stations knee deep in drifts to wave this special past. It was on this part of the trip that the tall, handsome Irishman heard his first french "bienvenue" greetings.

AS THE TRAIN sped through the clean white countryside, the governor-general had a breakfast choice of ham and eggs, liver and bacon, and finan haddie along with cereal, hot scones, fruit juices and coffee.

At the last stop in New Brunswick—Campbellton—the governor in a heavy coat with musk-ox collar and Viscountess Alexander in a beaver coat walked on the platform to meet a welcoming crowd. The Alexander children, delighted with the abundance of snow, scooped it up and made snowballs.

May Become Most Powerful World Has Seen

Powerful UN Military Force Being Planned

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—In a penthouse atop a midtown hotel, some 20 men are laying down plans for organization of a military force which ultimately may develop into the most powerful the world has ever seen.

THESE ALTERNATES compose the military staff committee of the United Nations. As the military organ of the security council the committee is a general staff for the world's international police force whose task will be to prevent and, if need be, suppress aggression.

Charter provisions give the security council power to use armed force to give effect to its decisions in cases where it considers that such measures as severance of diplomatic relations, economic relations and communications have failed.

Chiefs-of-staff of the big five—United States, United Kingdom, Russia, France and China—are permanent members of this committee.

SPECULATION naturally centres on how much each of the 31 member powers will contribute in manpower and equipment. Most guesses so far have leaned to the theory the United States will contribute heavily in air and sea units, with perhaps the largest share of the ground forces being drawn from Russia.

Motion Passed in 1911

Bill Has Long Wait

WINNIPEG, April 11.—(CP)—Manitoba has finally made up its mind to deal with a resolution passed at an imperial conference in 1911. Thirty-five years may have come and gone but the Legislature's law amendments committee yesterday reported a bill which, if given third reading, will have far-reaching effects on the pockets of wife-deserting husbands throughout the Empire.

THE BILL WOULD MEAN that a soldier who married anywhere in the British Commonwealth and then deserted his wife to return to Manitoba would have to support her if she desires. And it works both ways. If a man in the province deserts his wife, she can obtain an order for support so long as he remains anywhere in the British Commonwealth.

The Act has been made retroactive, giving the courts power to enforce maintenance orders filed prior to the date on which the bill is approved.

The first Great War delayed passage of the bill in the British House of Commons until 1920—and 26 years later the Manitoba government has finally given in.

Committed Suicide in Car

Youth Wrote Feelings As Death Approached

WILMINGTON, Mass., April 11.—(AP)—Scribbled notes trailing off into an unintelligible scrawl, recording "sensations of approaching death," were disclosed by police yesterday after a medical examiner reported Richard P. Gale, Jr., 21, son of a former Minnesota congressman, a suicide.

THE BODY of the young Massachusetts Institute of Technology army-veteran student, son-in-law of a Minneapolis publisher and father of a six-month-old son, found Tuesday, apparently laid lain in an automobile in a woods road since Monday night. Medical Examiner Ira Richardson said carbon monoxide gas directed into the car from the exhaust pipe had caused death.

Mr. Richardson said the scribblings, containing no indication of motive, said: "Terrible smell of gas fumes . . . It would be 6.34 p.m. civilian time.

"It's getting rather dark to write . . . Eyes smart a bit . . . Afraid somebody will come by now. This is slow (6.36 p.m.).

"Engine sounds smooth. Faculties seem temporarily sharpened. Eyes still smart . . . no one objected when I stopped on his property . . . can't blame him much really . . .

"SEEMS THAT there are more gas fumes in here than anything else right now . . . muscles used in writing . . . in need of a rest. I'm afraid somebody will come.

Seek Amendments Farm Income Tax

WINNIPEG, April 11.— (CP)— The Manitoba Legislature yesterday approved four recommendations toward reduction of income tax paid by farmers and thereby allied itself with the views of the Saskatchewan and Alberta administrations on that subject.

THE RECOMMENDATIONS, submitted by an agriculture committee of the house after study of a bill introduced by F. C. Bell (CLN-Birtle) called for:

1. Assessment of a farmer's income on the basis of a moving five-year average;

2. Exemption of $1,000 in income derived from sale of livestock, livestock products and poultry;

3. Recognition of breeding herds as a capital asset and in the case of proceeds from dispersal sales averaging of the incomes over a three-year period for taxation purposes; and

4. The setting up of a board of appeal for farmers.

CHAIRMAN M. P. Sutherland (CLN-Lansdowne) of the committee said income tax was hitting directly at livestock production and no man was going to work overtime with hogs, poultry and cattle to meet the emergency demand for more foodstuffs when all his profits were swallowed up by taxes.

Just when they were beginning to make some money and "get out of the red," he said, the income tax department stepped in.

Seeks Annulment Of Wedding Held At Pistol Point

BALTIMORE, April 11.— (AP) —Charging he had been forced to marry a divorcee at the point of her brother's pistol, William V. Steppe filed suit yesterday for an annulment.

Steppe said that when he refused a proposal by the former Mrs. Katherine Martin of Augusta, Ga., when he was stationed at an army camp near there, she called her brother who he declared, brandished his revolver and said, "There's going to be a military wedding or a military funeral."

Then he marched the pair off to a judge, who married them while the brother, a policeman, stood by with his hand on the holster at his hip, Steppe said.

recognize the events in Germany in this war to understand and pass judgment on them.

"For everything that happened since I became chief of the secret police in 1943, for every wrong committed there as far as it happened under my actual control if I knew about it—for all that I assume responsibility."

He got the job after the assassination of the notorious Reinhard Heydrich, the Nazi hangman who also was "protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, after Heydrich was assassinated at Prague.

"I TOLD HIMMLER", Kaltenbrunner said, "that my name, my honor and my family were too sacred to allow me to inherit Heydrich's job and this hated name.

"Himmler quieted me down and said he personally would retain all executive powers, exercising them personally, and I was not to concern myself with them at all".

He said Himmler told him his sole duty would be organizing and extending the intelligence service. That, he said, was in bad shape after Heydrich's death, and Adolf Hitler railed constantly against Himmler about it.

THEN, BELYING his bold acceptance of responsibility, he began shifting the blame from himself.

"I state here emphatically that the speeches given Heydrich such as the final solution of the Jewish problem, were not known to me at the time, and in fact never were given to me at all.

"I never had executive powers from the very beginning."

The defense presented an affidavit depicting Kaltenbrunner as a Nazi who after 1943 felt that Germany must seek peace at any price. It said he conspired two years before the end of the war to contact American representatives in Switzerland in an attempt to seek peace.

THE AFFIDAVIT was by Dr. Wilhelm Hoetli, Austrian Catholic Youth leader, who joined the gestapo and worked closely with Kaltenbrunner.

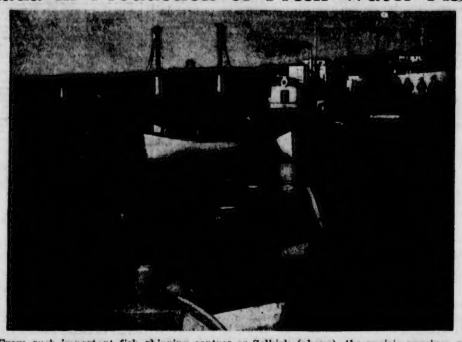

Salute Formalities Worry Alexander

HALIFAX, April 11. — (CP) — A member of the Irish Guards Regiment and graduate of Britain's famed Sandhurst Royal Military College, Viscount Alexander finds it hard to forget the regimental manner. Before leaving the liner Aquitania to land in Halifax yesterday, he confided in a ship's officer that his chief worry was he would forget he was in civilian clothes and return the general salute of an honor guard in the army manner.

Manitoba Leads All of Canada in Production of Fresh Water Fish

This scene at Winnipegosis dock shows the fishermen's boats waiting for a tug which will take them north to the fishing grounds. Catches of 6,000 Manitoba fishermen are handled through Winnipeg which is the greatest fresh-water distributing centre in the world.

From such important fish shipping centres as Selkirk (above), the prairie province of Manitoba sent to market $3,330,000 worth of fresh-water fish in 1944-45—more than any other province—and Lake Winnipeg has now the greatest production of any body of fresh water in Canada. Its nearest rival is the Canadian side of Lake Erie. Sturgeon from Lake of the Woods (right) weighs 150 pounds.

Gradual disappearance of Winnipeg goldeye (above) is puzzling officials of the Department of Mines and Natural Resources and all efforts to boost the catch have met with failure. Inset are unsmoked fish.

Dominion Scientists Are Concerned

Dearth of Goldeyes Gourmets' Wail

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

WINNIPEG, April 11.—Disappearance of Winnipeg goldeye, prize gastronomic dish for visiting tourists and expensive plate at swank restaurants in distant cities, is causing concern to Dominion scientists. Manitoba production has dropped from half a million pounds a year to a quarter of a million.

FIFTY YEARS AGO, goldeye were so plentiful they had a tough time finding a spot on the menu. Their flabby, tattle-tale grey flesh was unappealing to the eye. Then commercial fishermen began dying them. This was done with a gold tint, and left the silver skin sparkling and the white flesh a sunset red. They smoked them with oak smoke to heighten their flavor. (Other smokes left them bitter or resinous.)

Immediately they become a delicacy. Now they command $2 each in New York restaurants, are flown to Hollywood homes, are featured at banquets in the Southern States, and are popular in Toronto. In Edmonton they retailed at 55 cents each, but for the past three months dealers have been unable to get them.

THE FASHIONABLE way of serving them is to present them whole, except for scales. A special fish scalpel is used for slicing off the head and dorsel fin. Then the knife is drawn down the centre line from tail to head. The flesh is spread off the bones and lies before the gourmet ready for the fork.

Goldeye are found in Ontario, especially in the northwestern sections, Saskatchewan and Alberta, but are most plentiful in Manitoba. The furthest north a goldeye was ever found was at Fort Wrigley, on the Mackenzie River, in 1908. One was heard from near Norman, where the Bear River joins the Mackenzie River, but was never seen. (As a matter of fact, it's difficult to see a goldeye at any time, because they haunt muddy pools.) Fishermen go after them with flies in the Missippippi, but goldeye there are not commercially practicable.

SCIENTISTS looking into their doom say their natural enemies are pickerel, sauger, jack fish and man, with man the most prominent foe. The Pas, Manitoba was once thick with goldeyes and it is suspected the development of the muskrat marshes in that area may have been detrimental to their health. The fish follow the June floods into the marshes, spawn, and retreat while the water is still high. The young fish, they speculate, may find themselves abandoned. If they remain in the marshes all winter, the decomposition of matter under the ice may exhaust the supply of oxygen and kill them. These theories will be investigated this summer.

AN EXPEDITION is scheduled to penerate the western reaches of Lake Athabaska, Alberta, in 1947, to determine whether goldeye have taken advantage to ideal living conditions there. If so, it's possible commercial interests may pursue this lucrative field into Northern Alberta.

A Northern Manitoba fisherman made $1,500 in two weeks recently. The fishing is done in the winter months by cutting holes through the ice. It is kept in warm shacks to prevent freezing and consumed while it is still fresh.

INCIDENTALLY, goldeye is among the few fish where gents can be distinguished from ladies without cutting them open. But that's a subject of interest only to other goldeye.

Poker Parlors Are Given OK By Calif. Town

GARDENA, Calif., April 11.—(AP)—The chips were almost all stacked and counted yesterday, and Gardena poker enthusiasts can continue to play the draw variety legally for another four years.

Under an ordinance which approves one poker parlor for each 1,500 residents, six of them operating have a total of 173 tables, taxed at $425 a table a year. Revenue last year exceeded $73,500.

THE GAMES WERE FIRST authorized four years ago. An election Tuesday was on repeal of the ordinance. Opponents called the parlors "undesirable." Proponents cited lower business and property taxes in support of the games.

Unofficial returns from two complete and three incomplete polling places out of five yesterday gave for repeal 921, against 1,180.

Egg-Rolling Fest Banned by Truman

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP)—A living memorial—a giant forest tree—for every American who served in the Second Great War was proposed in the Senate and House of Representatives yesterday.

Global Airport NO. 1

It was 1930 . . . Two flying pioneers, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty piloted their globe-circling "Winnie Mae" over a very minor yet strategically located airfield. They set it down in a morass of mud that was Edmonton's Municipal Airport. Yet, destined to grow from these muddy runways and from this one small hangar was one of the greatest airfields of the continent---Edmonton Airport---crossroads for the wings of the world.

The present Airport was born in 1920 to serve those early pioneers of aviation who were flying supplies and equipment into our great North. From that date facilities were progressively improved as the North was expanded. Thus, with our declaration of war, followed by the entry of Russia into the conflict, and Pearl Harbor, Edmonton had the perfect setting for the tremendous expansion required to meet the emergency.

$2,400 AIRCRAFT HANDLED IN ONE YEAR

Today the field is practically surrounded by mammoth hangars and aircraft repair depots. Covering 750 acres of land, the airport has three miles of concrete runways, 200 feet in width. There is a concrete perimeter track that practically circles the field. During the war years, the heaviest bombers and transport aircraft and the fleetest fighters were stationed or shuttled though Edmonton to Russia and the Orient. In one day 865 aircraft were cleared through, in the single year 1943 a total of 22,400 planes passed through the Edmonton Airport.

EDMONTON ON THE ROUTE TO ORIENT AND MOSCOW

According to aviation authorities, the shortest distance between points in North America and Asia will be over the top of the world. Through the Edmonton Airport, Alberta's place on these great airpaths of the world is assured. Already an American Air Line has permission to operate a passenger and freight service from New York to Manila via Edmonton. The Trans-Canada and the Canadian Pacific Air Lines operate regular schedules out of Edmonton. The Airport is also used by the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Associated Airways, the R.C.M.P., the Imperial Oil and Eldorado Mines. A rough estimate shows that approximately 100 aircraft per day now, either land or take off, from this site of Canada's largest Airport.

PROPHECY COMING TRUE

Indeed, the 16-year-old prophecy of the late Wiley Post is coming true. As he stepped from the "Winnie Mae" at Edmonton on that memorable day in 1930, he said, "This airport is destined to play a prominent part in the constuction of an aerial bridge to Asia."

Albertans may well be proud of the outstanding advancement in aviation that has taken place in this great province, and the part we are destined to play in future aviation history.

Canadian Products Wanted

Canada has loaned France $242,500,000. Not in cash, of course, nor in negotiable securities which could be hocked in other countries. It has given France credit to this amount against which it can buy goods in Canada. The Dominion treasury will pay the owners of the goods as the sales take place, and eventually France will square the account in cash or return shipments of goods, with interest.

The loan is an order on future production. It is based on the supposition that this amount of goods, of kinds France requires, be available there. Otherwise the deal would break down, not through any fault of France, but of Canada. If Canadian producers couldn't deliver, France could not buy.

Like all the other loans which have been made to foreign countries, this guarantees a market abroad for Canadian products. It narrows the field of uncertainty as to where these products can be sold. It sets up another definite objective for producers, and reduces the speculative element in their operations. They know where this loan is spent and what can be sold. The order has been placed. The financing has been arranged. They can proceed in confidence to make plans to deliver goods.

They may with reason also expect that if goods and prices are satisfactory, this transaction will stimulate sales beyond the amount of the loan, paid for in the ordinary way. Buyers who find themselves well treated are likely to buy more than their first orders call for—and France is a big country, which must import heavily.

The Crisis Returns

Apparently things at Tehran are not in the sweet accord that was supposed. Russia wants the Iran question marked off the program of the Security Council. But the Iran representative wants it left there until it is seen on May 6th whether Soviet troops have all left the country according to promise—and he has the backing of Premier Qavam in making the demand.

Qavam thus tells the world he isn't taking Moscow's word for it that the troops will all get out by the deadline date. He has said he thinks they will, but wants the Council to keep a free hand just in case they don't.

Russian delegate Gromyko will walk out again unless the Iran item is struck off the calendar; couldn't consistently do anything else. But if the incident is declared closed while Iran gives assurances they are not closed, the small nations will draw the inference that the Council cannot be depended upon to protect them. Either way it may decide, the Council is heading for continued trouble, and a possible weakening of its prestige.

The position of the Iran government can be understood, without accusing Russia of bad faith. It is obviously in a state of nerves bordering on jitters. Russia's promise is satisfactory, but its armored columns are still present—and very impressive. Moscow could make the tremble both in Iran and Council circles, by ordering its troops to get out as fast as their high-speed vehicles could carry them.

Not Quite So Bad

Ottawa has not been taking for granted that the reports about conditions in the hunger areas were the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. It has been making some independent inquiries, and the showing is that at least in some of these areas the situation is less desperate than had been represented.

Officials have found that late rains have made a moderate crop likely in parts of India where complete failure had been the outlook. In Greece rations are above the 2000 calory level, a healthy rate of consumption one will starve. The UNRRA had delivered to it in the last half of 1945 twice the amount of wheat it was able to distribute. Nor do the experts agree that near-famine conditions must be expected for the next three years; one good world crop, they say, would restore the food reserves.

Encouraging as this is, it does not of course mean that nobody anywhere is hungry, or even likely to die of hunger. The immediate crisis in Europe is just ahead, and no harvest reaped next fall can make up the shortages there in time. A moderate crop in the dry section of India will not overtake the shortage there. The rations which the Greeks are getting is food shipped from abroad, and no one has suggested that they can be self-supporting in food next winter. Maybe poor transportation prevented the UNRRA distributing all the wheat that it received last year, or as much as was required.

But the tone and substance of this information is heartening. And it is equally good news that Ottawa is drawing on sources of its own for facts as to the food situation in the distress countries. To people are more easily touched than Canadians by reports that people somewhere are in danger of starving. They could become panicky on that subject under the influence of unreliable propaganda. They will expect their Government to keep them advised on the world food question, now that they know there are these independent sources of information.

The Cup Stays Home

To most Canadians big league hockey rates only as a subject of casual interest, not to be compared in excitement-provoking quality to the rivalry between local teams and competitions for regional leadership. Comparatively few of the residents of the Dominion have ever seen a big league game or ever will, and thrills relayed by radio and print lose energy in transmission, like an electric current.

Never the less, pulses did quicken across the Dominion when the Montreal Canadiens downed the Boston Bruins and kept the Stanley Cup in Canada for another year. For that cup originated in Canada, and the donor never intended that it should go outside Canada. It was put up by Lord Stanley, away back in 1893, to be a trophy emblematic of the national championship among amateur teams.

Time has changed the significance of the trophy in two respects. It is now competed for by professionals, and the winner is acclaimed the best combination of hockey players in the world. In two successive seasons Canadian teams have won that distinction.

The cup cost Lord Stanley $50 when it was turned out by the maker. If it were put up for sale now, which can't happen, some souvenir-hunter would probably pay a thousand times that price. Tradition has loaded it with a value the donor never could have dreamed of, and the original small trophy has been mounted on a series of bases because room was needed to record the names of the winners down the years.

The cup has another interest for Canadians, particularly for those who live in the prairie provinces. Wherever the cup is played for, in the early stages or the finals of a season, young Canadians are in action, and western men among them. There wasn't an all-American team in the competition this year. Of the final games it could almost be said that the Canadians who wore Montreal colors beat the Canadians who wore Boston sweaters, for half or more of the Bruins hailed from Canada—two of them from Edmonton.

Life for members of the Security Council is varied. One day they adjourn to think over a crisis. The next day they meet to jot another one down on the desk pad for future reference.

A recent news item said it was intended to introduce a bill in the Dominion parliament to tax government buildings like taxable. An excellent move, no doubt, if "intra vires" of the Parliament of Canada. But according to the BNA Act "property of the Crown" is exempt.

Democracy, amateur style, broke out in Tokyo, when U.S. military police had to disperse 10,000 enthusiasts who were throwing stones at the residence of Premier Shidehara. Bulk Purchase Policy Gets Bad Reception

Today in Europe

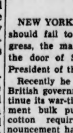

American Growers Fear Closing of Liverpool Cotton Exchange May Not Only Force Prices Down But Repeat the Pattern in Other Industries

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK.—If the British loan should fail to pass through Congress, the main fault may lie at the door of Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the Board of Trade.

Recently he announced that the British government intends to continue its war-time policy of government bulk purchase of Britain's cotton requirements. This announcement has had a bad effect in Congress. William Clayton, U.S. Under - Secretary of State, who has done more than almost any other American official to ensure the passage of the loan, said Cripps' announcement had lost the loan ten votes in the Senate.

CHURCHILL

Why is it that so many Americans resent the new policy of nationalization of industry and government control of trade upon which Britain's Labor government has embarked? British Socialist opinion is inclined to explain it away by alleging that hostility to the plans of the Labor government is inspired chiefly by banking interests in Wall street. This, of course, is not true.

THE HOSTILITY of informed American opinion to British domestic legislation is not based upon hostility to Socialist experiments in England in themselves. It is based upon the realization that the United States may very likely be forced in self-defence to imitate the experiments which Britain is undertaking. If, in Britain, there is to be only one buyer for cotton, the thousands of cotton-traders in the United States will be at a hopeless disadvantage. The British government would be able to play one off against the other and force down prices to an entirely uneconomic level. The United States Government might be compelled, in the interests of American cotton growers, to become the sole seller of American cotton. The same pattern of events would be likely to repeat itself in the iron and steel industry which the British Government is also committed to nationalizing. The same would be true of many other industries.

Thus, instead of there being a return to free trade and private enterprise, which Americans so much desire and which is the only hope of a free and prosperous world, the policy of the British Government confronts the world with the likelihood of bitter trade wars waged by governments officials with the taxpayers' money.

AMERICAN OPPONENTS of the loan are already pointing out the sinister implications and possibilities inherent in this policy. And there is likely soon to be a campaign which will draw attention to the fact that such a huge amount of international trade runs entirely contrary to the fundamental purposes underlying the Bretton Woods trade agreement, the International Bank, and the proposed American loan to Britain.

Cripps' decision to continue the bulk purchase involves the liquidation of the Liverpool cotton exchange, which, before the war, was one of Britain's greatest commercial assets. This was in itself a high price to pay to impose Sir Stafford Cripps' doctrinaire opinions on the unfortunate British public. But the decision to do so should fail to pass through Congress, the British people may decide to adapt a famous phrase, that never in the course of history was so much paid by so many for so little.

It is only fair to point out that officials of the United States government, while loudly proclaiming their belief in free enterprise and a sweeping away of controls, are themselves perpetuating many of the regulations which were imposed in war-time. And this in some cases with the consent and good will of American industry and American labor leaders. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently demanded a continuation of price controls and at the same time no government interference with wage levels. The distinguished American economist, Henry Hazlitt, commenting on this observed: "Totalitarian economies come, not because they work consistently well them, but because people suffer from the delusion that they can combine regimentation for others with freedom for themselves."

TORONTO FINANCIAL POST

As expected, the ill-timed action of Dominion members of Parliament in voting themselves a tax-free boost in salaries has stirred up similar desires elsewhere. The members of the Ontario Legislature now seek to have their $2,000 indemnity freed of income tax.

Certainly if members of Parliament are granted a substantial measure of tax exemption then why shouldn't all salaried people also have it? There is no good reason, of course, except that the government could not afford the loss of such a major source of revenue.

The whole success of the income tax hinges on its equal distribution. Provided all share equally in the burden then it will be borne as some are granted relief then the flood gates are open to every sort of pressure and abuse.

Soviets at the Crossroads

All Opinions Win Concessions From the Government Which Will Not Risk Factionalism With Its Inherent Danger of a Split

By Dorothy Thompson

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Dorothy Thompson

An article in the Swiss weekly, "Weltwoche", of March 1st, illuminates what is happening in the Soviet Union. The writer, who entitles the article, "The Soviets at the Crossroads", merely reports, without editorializing. He says that the Soviet government, immediately after the close of the war, realized that millions of Russians have learned, from manning fortification armies, that the standard of living for the ordinary man is in many border countries, higher than that in the Soviet Union, and that in the depths of the Russian masses' many desires of a political, economic, and spiritual nature, are stirring.

As a result, the Soviet government has been making a systematic study of public opinion among the higher functionaries of the party, the upper bureaucracy, army officers, diplomats, and selected professors and intellectuals. This "Gallup poll", if one might so describe it, would have gone deeper than answers to questionnaires, has revealed four separate and contradictory streams of opinion. The upper classes two of them under "the imperialists", and two under "the isolationists".

The imperialists, like the isolationists, divide themselves into a right and left wing.

The right wing includes Nationalists who always favored a strong Nationalist base for the USSR and who, formerly supported Stalin because he converged during the "patriotic war," which, they maintain, proved Nationalism a correct one to beafve force than Communism.

THESE BELIEVE that the USSR should give priority to foreign affairs. They argue that the Soviet Union has become a world power and should exploit that fact to the utmost. They argue that the Soviet is having nothing to fear, since the contradictions that plague the rest of the world will not ease; that Anglo-American unity is only temporary, and, therefore, no compromises are necessary. They advocate never parleying on Soviet interests, but, instead, raising counter-attacks and counter-claims.

(Recent speeches of Molotov and Stalin would seem to indicate that this policy, of the right-wing Nationalist-Imperialists has, at present, the upper hand.)

But the author maintains it has strong opposition even in the National group. The left wing is satisfied with the awakening of the national spirit and wishes to deepen national internal unity through concentrating on rapid reconstruction of the economy and raising the living standard, taking a defensive, not aggressive attitude abroad. They fear the dissipation of the national strength through foreign adventures, and are against any Soviet attempt to sacrifice internal national strength for the creation of any special sort of order in Europe.

The second category embraces two wings of specifically Communist views, though both are in contradiction to the Nationalists of either camp. The Right Wing regards with uneasiness the power politics of the Soviet. They fear that the means by which foreign policy is conducted will prejudice European and American workers against Communism, and hold that power politics is in contradiction to the Russian revolution. They wish a moderate foreign policy, no extension of Communism by force, but rather the building up of Moscow as a withdrawn spiritual centre of the world proletariat —a "Red Vatican."

THE LEFT-WINGERS, on the contrary, take a cosmopolitan view that Communist prestige has risen, but, interesting enough, are also in favor of toning down expansionism. They are not Isolationists, but want to concentrate on building up Soviet internal economy and then throwing the country wide open to the world as they believe will be desirable within a few years. They believe that through friendly contacts with the outside world the Communist idea will be best spread. They also drop these false terms in our approach to crime and criminals and show by use of honest, straight English that we are tackling the problem in earnest.

Re Daylight Saving Time

Editor, Bulletin: And so our city council is again playing around with the idea of bringing in daylight saving time. It should really be called "hurry up time" because under this scheme, we hurry to get up in the morning and hurry to our work on time, generally somewhat bleary eyed. And then we hurry all day to keep up with the time, which somehow, manages to keep just ahead of us. We then hurry to get to bed, very soon after darkness sets in, so that we can catch a little sleep, before we again have to hurry to get up.

Then this setup we lose that precious hour of sleep in the morning, which is so delightful and satisfying.

Daylight saving enthusiasts can, if they wish, get up one, two or three hours earlier, than is normal for other people, but it is not compulsory that they go to bed at all. It would be so nice, for them, to stay up late, so that they can be on hand, to gaze at, and admire the sun as it creeps up over the horizon.

If they want this sort of thing, they can have it, since there is no law against it. But why force all of us to get up at such a nonsense. The advantages claimed for daylight saving are so slight and few, as compared to the many disadvantages which can be named, and are now being brought before the council by numerous public organizations, that it is easy to see that the whole thing is a confounded nuisance. So why must we monkey with the clock?

And honestly, Mr. Editor, don't you just love that extra hour of sleep in the morning?

Traffic and Accidents

Editor, Bulletin: The car, truck and bus are fast moving vehicles, and the time may arrive when either the vehicles or the people on foot must be debarred the streets and roads. And if eventually, why not now?

One little child killed or maimed for life is a terrible and a reflection on society of today. One little life snuffed out by reason of the use of the carbon monoxide producers on streets and roads, where at one time even the hen had rights to cross the street if she desired to get to the other side.

In the early days of slow speed railways the same were fenced in and highways provided for highway traffic. Now we have a gasoline railroad in our towns and cities and the daily bag is as Kipling predicted years ago.

Is our commerce of more value than our life? It looks like that and not many are much concerned unless they get run over. It is no longer safe to hike through the city on a bike, as the displacement is not equal to car or truck, etc. We could cycle on the roads in England around 1900 in safety and with enjoyment.

Has the pedestrian no longer any rights? True many are careless at times and places, but there ought to be greater factors of safety and less liabilities for risks. It could not hurt the vehicular traffic much to give the pedestrian the right of way at all times and at all places and make the punishment fit the crime for drivers who have not control of their machines.

Traffic accidents are our home war and ought to be prevented, otherwise we have lost our sense of values and sanity.

We must either ban the machines on the streets or give the people on foot the right of way. Is there any safe alternative?

Oratory: Commerce of Mind and Soul—

On Orators and Icebergs

Textbook of 1880 Prescribes Secret Exercises for Speakers Who Ernestly Aspire to Proficiency in Their Emotion-Arousing Art

By Bruce Hutchison

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Mr. John T. Winterich, one of the editors of the Saturday Review of Literature, has lately bemoaned the death of elocution, but he cannot bring it back to life. No young man would now thought of entering politics in our fathers' time without knowledge of elocution. Mr. Churchill practiced his speech and his gestures before a mirror as Demosthenes abouted his orations at the sea waves, with a pebble in his mouth (he would never clear to me). But most of current orators, judging by the look and sound of them, have never heard of elocution nor ever gnawed a pebble.

How serious a business elocution used to be is plain from a study of the standard work on the subject, published by F. W. Faxon maker in 1880. Having re-read this volume, the New York Times tells us that elocution, in the Shoemaker tradition, "was the art of commerce of the mind and soul", but mostly it seems to have come out of the can. It was harder than digging ditches or sawing wood. Indeed, according to Mr. Shoemaker, quoted, "the organs of delivery and the entire physical system participate in the benefit."

EXERCISES, therefore must include chest breathing, costal breathing, waist, dorsal and abdominal breathing, as well as full, prolonged, effusive, explosive and explosive breathing. The latter is achieved by taking a full breath and expelling it suddenly and with force in the utterance of the magic word, "Ha!" I wonder how many of our Canadian Members have ever practised costal, abdominal and explosive breathing! Alas, the only "Ha!" I have ever heard in the House of Commons was a weak titter which could hardly have built an orator's muscles.

After exercising the physique, the elocutionist must master facial expressions. For example the nose and upper lip must be elevated to show scorn and the lips parted in surprise or fear. Then one must practise vocal exercise by shouting such phrases as "Co, boss! Co, boss! Co, Co, Co!" I never knew a Canadian parliamentarian who ever said "Co, boss, Co, Co, Co!" and very few who had ever milked a cow.

Still there may be men in Parliament who have done their homework. There may be men who lock their offices, pull down the blinds and practice costal, abdominal and explosive breathing, though the only sound wafted from the stone walls of the Centre Block on a quiet evening is the skirl of Tom Reid's bagpipes, which comfort him after a hard day of debate and are said to develop the lungs at the expense of annoying the neighbors. But Mr. King's cozy cubbyhole does not suit outside the public chamber is devoted to any of these mysteries, if he breathes there explosively or he elevates his lips in private scorn or shouts "Ha" and "Co, boss!" no one seems to have heard him. Perhaps he is holding out on us and his diary, when published long hence, may reveal his interesting secret.

However Mr. King is not a real orator. He hasn't found time for the necessary exercise. The only orator who has ever been in Parliament really made a job of it is Senator Gerry McGeer, who used to do a hundred push-ups on the bathroom floor before he felt ready to face the House. There is nothing in Mr. McGeer's speeches to indicate that he has breathed explosively—not an explosion in a carload; and, indeed, he was a farm boy. He seems to have forgotten "Co, boss" altogether. I doubt that the Conservative party would like it anyway.

AND MR. COLDWELL has been putting on weight lately. Though his excellent speeches "concern the commerce of the mind and soul" they hardly "eall into play the most vital organs of the human body so that the entire physical system participates in the benefit." This is something that Mr. Coldwell ought to be thinking about a little.

For obviously the real orator is like an iceberg—the greatest part of him, all the secret labor and preparation, is hidden below the surface. Our modern oratory only resembles that part of the iceberg that is to the eye: it is hard and stark and cold and you go out of the way to avoid it. The great age, the warm and flowery age has passed, we are in a new ice age of public speaking, and one sometimes longs to hear a steamalike "Ha!" or a musical "Co boss," drifting down the wind at eventide, or the sound of oratory exploding on the spring landscape.

Going Feminine

Another vital change in our national characteristics is the trend towards female domination. At present there are more men than women, except among the very old. By 1971, the experts tell us, there will be more women than men in all age groups above 50 years. Later on this trend will show in younger groups as well.

75 Years Totalled By Two Lodges at Ponoka

PONOKA.—Members of the local Oddfellow and Rebekah lodges met this week for their 13th annual roll call and banquet in the Elks' hall auditorium. The function marked the 42nd year of the existence of the Oddfellows' Lodge here and the 33rd year for the Rebekahs.

Covers were laid for 200 guests. Assistants were daughters of members of the two lodges.

At the head table were: T. W. Hickmore, master of ceremonies; Mrs. L. Goodman, president of the Rebekah Assembly; Mrs. J. Pindleton, past president of the assembly; out-of-town guests, G. McArthur, grand warden; A. Young, past grand master and A. Browning, grand patriarch.

Addresses of welcome were given by Ivor Davies and Miss A. May. Jewels in recognition of 25 years of membership were presented to James Watson and W. Bowden, the presentations being made by N. W. Nelson and R. H. Salter. The past noble grand collar in red leather with silver trim was given to M. Koleyak and Mrs. L. Goodman received the emblematic ring. Other items on the program included entertainment by T. Harris and Miss W. Stagg. An informal dance brought the evening to a close.

Old Age Pension

well be placed in gas chambers and exterminated that way.

THE BEST METHOD would be to let them live. They did not want much, except food, clothing and a little money to take the odd trip out to the cemetery "to take a look at their last resting place."

Some were saying there was no money. There was a scarcity of it. There was lots of money floating around during the war and he wondered what had happened to it.

Mr. Ashby said he wanted to see old age pensions of $50 a month, payable at the age of 60.

He described the means test as "pure, unadulterated Nazism."

Adjourning the debate, Health Minister Claxton said that in considering anything like old age pensions the House take into consideration the social security program as a whole.

Mr. Claxton said no country in the world had a non-contributory old age pensions system without a means test. It was an "invariable rule" that a means test must accompany a non-contributory system.

There also was no country which provided a pension of $50 a month, such as some members had asked. Canada's average of $30 monthly was among the highest in the world. Britain and Australia paid only $5.77 a week, the United States only $29 a month and New Zealand from $79 to $369 a year.

MR. CLAXTON SAID the Dominion could not embark on an old age pensions scheme without consulting the provinces, which now operated the system. If the people of Canada wished to pay taxes and buy bonds to pay for an enlarged non-contributory plan they should reach their opinion after "sizing up the facts."

Mr. Baker said he agreed with the principle of Mr. Macinnis' resolution but he did not think this was the proper time to debate old-age pensions. There was the forthcoming sessions of the Dominion-provincial conference to be considered.

Reduction of the age for payment of pensions to 60 years was a good idea but it should be up to the provincial premiers to decide when this should be done. He approved of abolition of the means test because he did not like anything which made a man feel he was accepting charity.

BEFORE INCREASING pensions, however, halt should be brought to government expenditure and the budget should be balanced. Then the country could go ahead with social security legislation. An increase in the pension payments would involve large sums of money.

Mr. Irvine said old age pensions were not a party question.

THE TIME OF THINKING about old age pensions was past and now it was time for action. He called for adoption of the resolution, which simply was an expression from the people who had elected private members.

HE COULD NOT agree with those who said that the government could not increase pensions until expenditures were reduced.

Mr. Irvine said the first care of any government was the well-being of the people in the country. If the government thought more about expenditures than it did about the well-being of the people then it had no right to hold office.

Mr. Church protested against the use of the means test in establishing eligibility for pensions. The present system was nothing but a pauper's scheme.

MR. MICHAUD SAID he agreed with the principle of the resolution, but felt it was untimely.

The Dominion-provincial conference was due to take up the question later this month and he felt nothing should be done which might hinder the reaching of agreements by the various governments.

Mr. Michaud drew a laugh from opposition benches when he said he had not yet met a pensioner, receiving the maximum amount who was dissatisfied with the amount of the pension. Neither had he met with complaints about the questions asked in establishing eligibility.

He felt the means test should be done away with because it destroyed incentive to thrift and work.

MR. GREEN SAID it was a fact that old age pensions paid in Canada were not sufficient for a human being to live on. A second fact was that there were thousands of people who needed old age pensions and could not get them because of their age. The eligible age of 70 was higher than in any other country.

Those who were of eligible age had to go "through a valley of humiliation" before they could get a pension. Questions asked by the government embarrassed the applicant and made him feel he was getting a "hand out."

Pensions should be paid as a measure of security "for our senior citizens," said Mr. Green.

A FOURTH FACT was that too large a percentage of persons of eligible age could not qualify because of the stringency of old age pensions regulations. The percentage eligible was lower than in practically any commonwealth country.

Another unpleasant fact was that the recipients of the pensions were penalized for thrift. If a recipient had an income of $20 a month from life long savings, his penion was reduced accordingly. A pension recipient could not have other income exceeding $125 a year.

The federal government had failed to face up to the problem. He urged the Dominion take the lead in making the changes.

He asked that legislation be brought in this session providing for a national old age pensions plan under which persons 70 and over could obtain a pension regardless of means. This proposal had been made to the Dominion-provincial conference. He felt the government should go ahead without waiting for the provinces.

THERE SHOULD BE complementary legislation to provide for pensions for persons between 65 and 70. Changes were needed in residence regulations and other parts of the pensions act.

Mr. Green urged the government to introduce a retirement insurance plan under which persons would pay during their working years and who would then be entitled to an adequate pension during their latter years. Under such a plan there was no reason why the pension age could not be reduced to 60 years.

Employed by Firm For Last 67 Years

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—Employed continuously for 67 years by the same firm, Joseph A. Clink, 84, believes he may hold the record in Canada for length of service with one company.

Clink started at $3 a week at the James Morrison Brass Company on April 15, 1878. "I thought I was a millionaire when I was getting $9 a week after serving a five-year apprenticeship," he said last night.

"I was married 58 years ago on $9 a week and we could save money. Our rent for a six-room house was only $3 a month, coal was $5.50 a ton and we kicked when it was raised to $6 a ton."

Alexander Signs Voyage Souvenirs

HALIFAX, April 11. — (CP)— Many of the hundreds of war brides aboard the liner Aquitania had souvenirs yesterday of their arrival in the dominion—autographs of Canada's new governor-general, Viscount Alexander, and Viscountess Alexander. The Viscount signed his autograph: "Alexander of Tunis."

Because of the famous "gunpowder plot" of 1605, a ceremonial search of each building of Parliament is made every year.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

THE reason Calgary's Stampeders have been experiencing difficulty in pushing Trail Smoke Eaters out of the Allan Cup playdowns, was explained at least in part at the Arena here on Wednesday night.

But there seems no doubt that the best club won on the night's play and that Duke Scodellaro and the Ab Cronie-Mike Buckna-Don Menzies line provided most of the opposition.

Defence was the weak point in the Smoke Eater setup and the Kootenay club certainly could use Jimmy Morris. Les Chrichenson was pressed into service at the last minute. Left Winger Emil Kwasney was the pick of the second string, but all Trail forwards are free-wheelers and they appeared to like the big ice surface of the Edmonton arena.

RON GARDNER, who worked at centre with Larry (China Clipper) Kwong and Emil Kwasney, played for Regina Capitals early in the season. Kwong is an easy skater, but loses effectiveness by wandering, often straying even to left wing.

Hockey records show Mike Buckna is 33 years old, but his work here Wednesday night was of a high order. Mike still has a deceptive shift along with a nice turn of speed, and two goals and one assist out of a total of four tallies, speak loudly for the veteran right winger.

Ab Cronie is a beautiful stickhandler and was hard to hit. He was a picture goal. Still a fine goalie, Duke Scodellaro has a keen eye and a wonderful left hand, but his journeys into corners for pucks must have left Trail supporters somewhat jittery at times.

RED HUNTER was back in form last night and his three points prove it. Dune Grant also looked good, but Cairns was not as effective as in recent games and he got a break on his goal, a semi-screened affair.

Calgary's defence was considerably weaker than during the playoff with Edmonton Flyers. Sid Craddock had not played since early in the league season. Stampeder rearguard needs Pete Slobodian.

JOHN DUCEY, one of the Big Three in Edmonton's new senior baseball setup, appeared quite pleased with results of yesterday's discussions regarding inter-city possibilities with Don MacKay, president of Foothills League in Calgary.

Alternate schemes were reviewed, one of which would provide four and the other two weekend series with the Calgary league. One Saturday and two Sunday games would be played in Calgary each week-end and the order would be reversed for Edmonton, two Saturday fixtures and one on Sunday being the suggested Renfrew Park program.

ALTHOUGH HE WAS speaking unofficially for his circuit, MacKay was emphatic that harmony with the Edmonton loop and competitive baseball would be the governing factor from the Calgary angle.

Don stated a survey was being made in Calgary to determine the number of players available and whether the league would be four or three teams would depend upon the material in sight.

It is anticipated the season will open in both leagues somewhere around May 24 and the inter-city program will be settled well in advance of the starting date. All inter-city games will count in their respective league standings.

Pee-Wee Playoff At Arena Tonight

The Pee-Wee puckchasers will be battling it out at the Arena tonight when Sunland, Edmonton Athletic Club champs meet Highlands, winners of the Canadian Athletic Club league in a sudden-death semi-final commencing at 6 o'clock.

Winner of this game will then oppose Army and Navy Cubs, Maple Leaf title-holders in a sudden-death final on Friday night at the Arena starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Smoke Eaters Drop 5-4 Decision in 4th Allan Cup Semi-Final

Calgary Takes Two-Game Lead Over Trail

Last Won Cup in 1919

Superstitious Hamilton Club Heads West Late in Week

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—It wouldn't be fair to term them "dirty old men" but it's a fact that the team Hamilton Tigers will send west in quest of the Allan Cup is probably the dirtiest and oldest outfit to battle for the dominion senior hockey title in quite a spell.

Since they won their fourth straight game in the regular OHA schedule several months ago the superstitious Tigers — averaging more than 30 years young—have not washed their yellow-and-black sweaters or ill-matched and much-darned red-and-white stockings. Goalie Art Childs has not even washed his playing underwear and along with the rest of the shabby Cats he has no intention of becoming laundry-conscious for the finals.

MAYBE IT'S JUST a coincidence but the only time Hamilton ever won the Allan Cup was when the Tigers clicked in 1919, first year after the First Great War. The club's 1946 edition has high hopes that the current initial post-war season will bring them similar luck when they tackle the winners of the Trail Smoke Eaters-Calgary Stampeders series.

For most of hockey's famed "raggedy Annes" the western rail jaunt scheduled from Hamilton late this week will be their first glimpse of the prairies. But two of their front-line stars, Dillon Brady and Clarence Shillington, are familiar with the landscape, having earned their ice spurs in Saskatchewan.

Fresh from the biggest upset in this season's eastern hockey whirl when they eliminated the favored Montreal Royals in three straight games, the Tigers plan to take things easy until they invade Regina for the opening game of the best-of-seven Allan Cup series.

MOST ANCIENT of the oldsters who won 33 of 39 starts this campaign is centre Doug Runions, bald at 35. Winger Frankie Liscombe is the team's baby at 25. The jungle kings scored 198 goals for an average of 5.3 a game while supplying goalie Childs enough support to record 16 shutouts and allow only 60 pucks to skid past him.

Outstanding feature of Tigers' brilliant showing has been the network of Childs, born in England 30 years ago. Unorthodox and spending much of his time on the ice Childs is as clever today at when he spelled off with Winnipeg's Jimmy Foster to help England win its only Olympic title in Germany 10 years ago.

Gardens Sold Out For Junior Finals

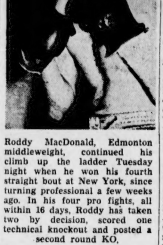

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—A sell-out crowd is assured for the opening game of the Memorial Cup final at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night between Winnipeg Monarchs, champions of the west, and Toronto St. Michaels, eastern junior finalists.

A little more than 16,000 can be squeezed into the big rink with standing room, but already applications for tickets have passed 30,000 mark. Officials said the demand for tickets was probably the greatest ever experienced in Toronto.

English Derby Favorite Wins

NEWMARKET, England, April 11—(CP)—The Aga Khan's Khaled, a favorite for the Derby in June, Wednesday won the one mile Column Produce Stakes for three-year-olds, beating Lord Derby's Downrush by three quarters of a length. Champion jockey Gordon Richards rode the undefeated Khaled.

Fourth Pro Win

Roddy MacDonald, Edmonton middleweight, continued his climb up the ladder Tuesday night as he won his fourth straight bout at New York, since turning professional a few weeks ago. In his four pro fights, all within 16 days, Roddy has taken two by decision, scored one technical knockout and posted a second round KO.

CAHA Looks After Financial Worries

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—With the Canadian senior and junior hockey finals coming up shortly, a spokesman for the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last night declared that so far as the clubs that have to travel are concerned there should be no financial worries.

The CAHA provides transportation and berths for the travelling teams and allows $120 a day while the club is staying in a hotel and $90 a day while travelling. The home team is allowed $100 per game and the visiting club $50 per game for incidental expenses. This applies to all games in the cup play-offs, wherever and whenever they are played.

IN THE FINAL series for both the Allan and the Memorial Cups, the clubs will receive a bonus of $500 for qualifying. In addition they share in division of the profits, with each club participating in the series receiving an allowance in accordance with the number of games played in CAHA competition.

At the CAHA annual meeting at Vancouver May 1 the Ontario Hockey Association will propose that after the first $30,000 is taken for CAHA expenses, 75 per cent of the remainder should be distributed among the clubs, the additional 25 per cent to be held in reserve for worthwhile causes.

Stamps Come From Behind Late in 3rd

After trading goals with Trail in the first two periods, Calgary Stampeders were forced to come from behind in the third session to post up a 5-4 victory over the Smoke Eaters in the fourth game of the Allan Cup semi-final at the Arena here Wednesday night. Paid attendance was 5,824.

The close decision gave the Western Canada League champions a two-game lead in the best-of-seven series, the Calgarians having won 7-3 in their third start after the teams had battled to 1-1 and 4-4 draws in the first two encounters.

THE SERIES will be resumed at Calgary on Friday and Stampeders now require only one more win to enter the final round against the eastern champions, Hamilton Tigers.

It was Archie Wilder's semi-screened goal fired from about 35 feet with but seven minutes remaining which finally settled the issue. The winning counter scored on a relay from Hunter, followed checkerboard passing inside the Trail blueline and came six minutes after Hunter's tally from Grant had deadlocked the game for the fourth time.

CALGARY'S GOALS were evenly divided amongst Doug Cairns, Dunc Grant, Red Hunter, Bunny Dame and Wilder, but Hunter also set up two more, whereas Mike Buckna with two markers and one assist led the Smokies' attack, Ab Cronie and Emil Kwasney also registering and Don Menzies getting in on a pair.

Although holding an edge exceeding one goal in the early part of the third period and displaying a marked superiority in the middle session, Stampeders only outshot the Trail club 35 to 25. Most of their drives, however, were from close in and Goalie Duke Scodellaro performed brilliantly, especially in the second period and late in the third when Stamps had the heat on.

CALGARY APPLIED pressure immediately following the opening whistle and Scodellaro had to move fast on a drive from Grant, and then almost pulled a high one from Grant into the goal, the puck landing on the top of the net.

Calgary went into the lead midway in the period, Cairns' 25-footer coming on the visiting club's 350 per game for incidental expenses. This applies to all games in the cup play-offs, wherever and whenever they are played.

IN THE FINAL series for both the Allan and the Memorial Cups, the clubs will receive a bonus of $500 for qualifying. In addition they share in division of the profits, with each club participating in the series receiving an allowance in accordance with the number of games played in CAHA competition.

Sir Malcolm Would Then Retire

Campbell Hopes Set New Record

By NORMAN J. BADDERLY

LONDON, April 11—(AP)—Although he is nearly 61, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed ace who has set world records on land and water, still hopes to boost his own speedboat figure to 150 miles an hour—after which he plans to retire from record-breaking for good.

On Aug. 15, 1939, 15 days before the Second Great War began, Sir Malcolm set the existing world record of 141.74 miles an hour on Lake Coniston, in Britain's lake district.

When war broke out he put his "Bluebird" into storage and turned to the business of war. His experimental work included development of a special fast armored car and numerous modifications for tanks.

NOW HE IS KEEN to prove Bluebird can better its previous mark.

He was the first to travel 150 mph on land (in 1925) and he hopes to be the first to achieve that speed on water. Bluebird, a 28-foot-6-inch-long speedboat is still the latest thing in design. Sir Malcolm hopes to make the attempt in August.

His 1927 land speed of 174.224 mph on Pendine sands on the Welsh coast did not satisfy him. The following year he raised the record at Daytona Beach, Fla., in a Bluebird motor car. In 1931, with a new Bluebird, he set a world mark of 246.153 mph at Daytona and reached a knighthood.

IN FEBRUARY, 1933, also at Daytona Beach, his Bluebird, fitted with a Schneider Trophy seaplane engine, averaged 272.108 mph.

But six years later another Briton, John Cobb, broke Sir Malcolm's land mark with a speed of 368.85 mph. on Aug. 23, 1939, at Bonneville Flats, Utah.

Junior Cage Tilt Saturday Night

YMCA Tollers and Calgary Bombers meet Saturday night at the Westglen gym in the deciding tilt of a two-game total-points series for the provincial junior men's basketball championship.

Tollers hold a two-point lead on the round, having trimmed the Bombers 41-39 in the opening joust.

An added attraction will be a tumbling act displayed by Art Warburton, former Dominion acrobatic champion, during the half-way intermission.

Rating them as the starriest aggregation of hoopsters Edmonton has produced in the past few years, the Tollers' coach, Armour Bull gives the following thumb-nail sketches of his crew:

Don Atkinson: 16, 5'10". Forward. First year in junior basketball. Strong on long shots. His 17 points against Victoria High team enabled the Tollers to vanquish the quintet. Very fast breaker.

David Barnes: Age 17, 5'10". Forward. First year in junior basketball. Loves to put the ball through the hoop with one-hand shew. Highly educated left hand.

Gordon Woodman: 5'10". Forward. Second year junior basketball. Moves skilfully, setting up plays for other players. Fast driving in repeatedly making sensational underarm in board baskets.

John MacDiarmid: 19, 5'1" in height. Second year in junior basketball. "Cool as ice" under pressure.

Jim Macdonald: Age 17, 5'9". Defence. Second year junior. Loves to set up plays with his short snappy passes and fleet floorwork. A great bucket shooter which he follows up underneath the basket.

Charlie Chimeck: 17, 5'3". Second year junior basketball. Is considered one of the fastest dribblers in the Junior league.

Gordon MacLachlan: 17, 5'10". Forward and guard. Captain of the team. Voted as most valuable player in the Edmonton Junior league. A slick floorman and passer. Equally adept on offence or defence.

Ron Chapman: 18, 6'2". Centre and guard. Second year in junior basketball. Shoots with either hand. Makes sensational pivot shots and chalks up a number on tallies on rebounds.

paid off and Wider's winning tally at 17:43 followed a lengthy checkerboard passing display.

Plans Announced For Summer Golf

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—Plans for a series of mid-summer golf tournaments as a prelude to the $10,000 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association open at Winnipeg in August were outlined tentatively Wednesday by tournament manager Earl Morris at the CPGA's spring executive meeting.

Morris said it is the intention to group the tournaments closely with a view to limiting the time professional golfers would be away from their home clubs. He previously had indicated that the association hopes to stage tournaments at Peterborough, Toronto, Sudbury, North Bay and Fort William.

The CPGA national championship will be held separate from any other tournament, probably in mid-September.

The meeting announced that the championships for professionals' assistants will be revived this year.

Soccer Council Plans Big Season

Since the Edmonton Football Council was re-organized some six weeks ago, soccer in the city has gone forward with leaps and bounds, and the executive council has had its hands full to keep up with events as they came along.

After a lapse of some years it is always difficult to re-organize teams and to amneal them all into workable leagues in order to give the spectators the best class of football possible, and to provide the necessary competition which will keep the players on their toes throughout the season.

AT THE OUTSET the task seemed insurmountable, as only two teams appeared on the horizon, and no funds in hand, but the job was tackled and the council went forward encouraged to find more teams in order to make up the necessary number.

A constitution has been drawn up and will be placed in the hands of all teams in order that they shall know what is expected of them, and to keep the games running on schedule at all times in order that the public shall not be disappointed. Trophies have been rounded up and polished and will be allocated to the different competitions and leagues. A new trophy has been promised for junior competition, and a new base is to be added to the Crown Paving trophy, the senior league award, together with medals for these two trophies. They will be shown in one of the local store windows in the near future.

WITH THE GROUND work accomplished, anxious eyes were cast in the direction of teams, and again the Council was surprised when the third team appeared on the horizon. The Army, Navy and Air Force Club notified the council of their intention to enter a team, and then a club from Calder also appeared with a request to be allowed to play. In all that will make four teams wishing to play in the senior league: the North Side Veterans, South Side Veterans, A. & N. Veterans and Oliver. This should make for an interesting league.

Outside of the league but desirous of playing in the open competitions a team from the RCAF and also one from the RAF. The boys from the Air Force will undoubtedly provide stiff competition in these open cup ties, particularly as most of the RAF team will be players who have cut their eye teeth on football since childhood.

THE JUNIORS have also come forward strongly and an entry has been received from the Maple Leaf Club, with others in the offing, for competition for the two Provincial Cup and medals which are to be presented in memory of the footballers in the city who gave their lives in the war. This should be one of the most sought after trophies of the council and should provide some stiff competition. Others seeking entry in this competition should get in touch with the secretary at phone 27286 as soon as possible.

Efforts are being put forward to take care of the juveniles and one team from the Westmount district has already been mentioned. Further enquiries are asked as soon as possible as the council wishes to get these younger teams started in order to provide material for the senior teams in the coming years.

All in all soccer in the city is off to a good start this season and only the summer weather and the necessary dry grounds are awaited to get the teams out.

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, April 11.—(BUP)—Now that it no longer is necessary to whistle past a Mexican graveyard, Senor Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers apparently is concentrating on saving face today as he reiterates that catcher Mickey Owen will be sold or traded.

The good senor from Flatbush, who always pays off 100 words to the dollar, insists that by trying to make a few extra bucks the villainous Mickey didn't do right by our Neil. It presents a soul-swelling tableau, as Massa Rickey stands sternly in the open door of the Dodger nuthouse with an emphatic forefinger pointing a righteous "out" into the cold, cold night for the rascally Owen.

Truth, justice and Dodger autocracy are upheld. The beautific smile returns to the kindly face of Massa Rickey and again all is peace and contentment.

BUT YOU'LL NOTICE there's a catch in the "sold or traded" announcement. The irate president of the flock adds: "If a good deal can be made."

It probably won't be. The general opinion is that Owen simply is getting a verbal Mickey as chastisement. Because when he first signed with the Mexican League, Rickey announced in several thousand venomous words that "he never will play with Brooklyn again."

Leo Durocher turned in one best thespian offering when he Charley McCarthyed the boss man in the bow tie and added:

"Mr. Rickey is the one to decide what happens to Owen. My catching is not too bad."

NOT TOO BAD for the Epworth League, that is. The deacon may be in a righteously indignant mood but it is reported that Lippy Leo kissed the man who brought the news that Mickey was coming home. For an old member of the Gas House gang, that's really being overwhelmed with joy.

The reasons, however, are simple. As his top receiver, the Lippy one whose catching "is not too bad" has a rookie whom the Yankees cast off five years ago. This is 27-year-old Ferrell Anderson, a University of Kansas graduate picked up from the Montreal farm club.

Back of Anderson is Mike Sandlock, now out with a split finger. This is the same Sandlock who, when Dixie Howell looked good earlier in the spring, was adjudged by Rickey as having "no chance to make this catching staff."

DUROCHER AGREED, apparently on the principles of the law of supply and demand and the dream of Owen's return.

It all simmers down, of course, to the fact that in his organization Rickey is a saint on a pedestal which has a loud speaker attachment. The public address system has only the microphone—Rickey's.

While at St. Louis, where he earned the apt title of "the fox of Sportsman's Park," and in the last few years since he has wrapped Brooklyn up as his personal little package, Rickey never has booked interference and very little sug-

15 - Year - Old Tennis Star Regarded Promising Product

By LORNE BRUCE

VANCOUVER, April 11—(CP)—A 15-year-old boy who wields his tennis racquet with both hands is regarded on the west coast as the most promising product to come off Canada's courts in almost two decades.

The lad is Lorne Main of Vancouver who won five major titles on the United States west coast last summer and after a winter of specialized practice is a greatly improved player.

A year ago Main won the Oregon state boys under 15 singles, the Washington state boys under 15 crown, Washington state under 18 doubles, the California state boys under 15 singles and junior boys doubles.

Probably his most outstanding performance was in the boys under 15 finals of the Pacific southwest championship tourney at Los Angeles when he forced George Gentry, seeded No. 2 in the United States, to three sets and lost the last set while using a borrowed racquet.

MAIN GAVE a convincing display of his fighting spirit in an early round of that event. He was playing against Vincent Schmeider of Los Angeles, seeded No. 3 in the United States. Main lost the first set 3-6 and was down 3-2 and 40 love in the second. One more error and he was out. The Vancouver boy rallied strongly to win that set 7-5 and went on to win the third 6-2.

Main did all that despite the fact he had no serve and no net game said Ted Milton, who took the boy to the American tournament, and plans to land Lorne at the dominion championships at Ottawa this summer.

"Right now he is playing like a champion," Milton went on. "No junior on the Canadian west coast can touch him. He can beat ordinary senior players. The very best players have to work to defeat him.

This admiration is not confined to those close to the boy in Vangestion. The watchwords were obedience and economy.

Owen got a little out of line on the former and frankly is out of order in the latter because he itary item will be his walking ticket, makes $12,500 a year. That money if and when, because the deacon doesn't like to part with so many dollars—even for a pennant.

bonus for signing with the Athletics after the late baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis had declared him a free agent.

LONDON, April 11.—(CP)—Mrs. K. Menzies, the former Kay Stammers, probably will be a member of the British Wightman Cup team and will receive special coaching before the matches with feminine stars of the United States in June, the British Lawn Tennis Association said Wednesday.

Machine Reads Newspaper, Then Spells Words to Blind

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON, April 11.—(Reuters)—Blind ex-servicemen and civilians may shortly be able to read ordinary printed books and newspapers as well as typewritten letters and documents by means of a loud-speaker spelling machine.

THE MACHINE, invented by a French professor, Paul De Saint Quentin, can be made in either fixed or portable models, and can be plugged in to any electric outlet like a radio set.

Prof. De Saint Quentin estimates that an initial order of 1,000 working models would cost about £40 ($178) each. As mass production got into swing, the price would drop.

The machine consists of a transparent-topped table on which the book or typewritten sheet is rested. An optical apparatus fixed underneath and travelling automatically over the page projects the letters, magnified several times, on to a revolving glass cylinder which is marked out with the alphabet in transparent white letters on a black ground.

AS EACH LETTER projected on the cylinder from the table above coincides with the corresponding letter on the cylinder, it blocks the light passing through the letter to a photo-electric coil inside and so produces an impulse which is transmitted to the photo-electric cell of a second cylinder revolving on the same axis.

This second cylinder has a perforated alphabetic sound film instead of the white on black letters of the first drum and on reception of the impulse "spells" the letters by means of a loud-speaker—or earphones if the user prefers.

The two cylinders revolve fairly rapidly and the speed can be regulated according to the needs of the "reader." The words would be spelled out to him at least as fast as he can read Braille.

Food Poisoning Hits B.C. Centre

KIMBERLEY, B.C., April 11—(CP)—All but two of 29 persons taken violently ill late Tuesday from food alleged to have been served in a Kimberley cafe have returned to their homes after brief stays in hospital.

Twenty-six of the victims were treated here and three at nearby Cranbrook. One person remains in hospital in each city.

THOSE IN HOSPITAL were in no danger, authorities said, but they still are very ill.

With the exception of a 10-year-old boy, all the victims were adults.

Health authorities said samples of the food eaten have been sent to the provincial government laboratory for analysis. Meanwhile neither police nor doctors would express opinion on the cause of the illness.

The cafe has been closed temporarily.

Body of Child Found in River

BRIDGEWATER, N.S., April 11—(CP)—Body of three-year-old David Chivers of Bridgewater was found in the Lahave river late Tuesday after the child had been missing from his home for several hours. His mother, a war-bride from Wales, became alarmed when she did not see him for some time and a search revealed the boy's body in the water.

B. D. Chaney of Jackson Heights, N.Y., tells me that he ran across today's hand in Seattle and had a lot of fun with it. Actually it is an old hand and has appeared in this column before.

I have not wasted any time in the bidding. I do not recommend the jump from one heart to seven hearts, and think that North should bid three diamonds over one heart; but in order to get down to the play we will get into the seven-heart contract quickly.

With the club king opening, how would you play the hand to make seven-odd?

Do not make the mistake either of trumping the club in dummy or of discarding one of the spades.

You must throw away a diamond and win with the ace of clubs, lead a small heart to the jack, trump the three of spades; lead another heart to the queen and trump the queen of spades; then lead your last heart to the king. On the ace of hearts, which picks up West's last trump you discard the king of diamond; on dummy's ace of spades you discard the ace of diamonds.

Now the balance of dummy's diamonds are good.

Urges Canadians Cut Food Buying

OTTAWA, April 11. — (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner, in a CBC national network address last night, appealed to Canadians to save food for starving peoples by "leaving it in the shops" and co-operating with Canada's various food boards.

THE ADDRESS outlined the work of the wheat, meat, dairy and special products boards. These, together with the Prices Board and other food control organizations, were equipped to handle efficiently the job of seeing food supplies were allocated to the places most needed.

"Our organization works," said Mr. Gardiner. "We do not require to appeal to our people to give us any food product which reaches the market. We have the authority to take it and we are taking it after seeing that it is paid for.

"Give it a chance by saving food, leaving it in the shops. Thus less will be removed from sources of supply. It will be taken by our boards and delivered to those who know what to do with it. Then there will be no waste of food, labor, or nervous energy."

HE APPEALED to farmers to place "absolute confidence" in the Wheat Board, to "put the wheat in the hands of the Wheat Board, and leave as much of the wheat and flour under their control as possible by feeding less, by saving at home. And do not set up local committees to plead with people to take cereal products away from the board."

He outlined the operation of the Meat Board and said farmers should deliver their finished livestock in as great quantities as possible to dominion inspected packing plants. From there it would be delivered to those authorized to distribute in most efficiently to needy persons throughout the world.

Canada to Stand by Trade Preferences

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon said last night there was "not an atom of truth" in suggestions which had been made that Canada had agreed to abandon the system of imperial trade preferences upon entering the proposed international trade organization.

In an address before the Ottawa Valley branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. MacKinnon said Canada was going to the trade conference this summer with a "free hand" and had made, and would make, no commitments on imperial preference prior to the conference.

"WE ARE GOING to this meeting with an open mind, ready to co-operate and ready to do all we can to ensure its maximum success," he said.

"The proposals to be considered by the conference, I would like to emphasize, make it quite clear that all tariff changes are to be made on an agreed international basis. There is no question of any nation or group of nations being asked to make tariff reductions which will not be matched by tariff concessions from all the member countries.

"There is no intention to abolish imperial preferences or to agree to large reductions in imperial preferences in exchange for meagre or nominal reductions in the tariff of the United States and other countries."

Ottawa Repeals Deserter Order

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)—Defence Minister Abbott announced yesterday in the Commons the repeal of an order-in-council under which Canada had returned to the United States deserters from the United States Army who were detained in Canada.

Mr. Abbott referred specifically to the case of Daniel McCloy of Winnipeg, who had joined the United States forces in 1929 and some years later went absent without leave.

MCCLOY LATER surrendered and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment but escaped after 16 months and returned to Canada. He enlisted in the Canadian Army in September, 1939, and served until August, 1945, when he was honorably discharged.

Mr. Abbott said the order never was intended to cover a case such as that and McCloy's case had "served to emphasize that fact." Therefore, the order was repealed Tuesday.

In making the statement, Mr. Abbott was replying to a question about the disposition of McCloy's case asked previously by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre).

The ROAD AHEAD

By HARPER PROWSE, M·L·A·

IT LOOKED, for a while, that we had a solution to the problem of getting goods from War Assets for sale to veterans. I still think it was a sound idea and would have worked to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. It wouldn't have cost the taxpayers any money. It would have distributed the goods to those who need them. But War Assets turned the proposition down.

Officials Discuss Plans For Census

A gathering of nine Edmonton and district census commissioners with Dr. O. A. Lemieux of the Dominion statistician's department, Ottawa, was being conducted in Edmonton Thursday in connection with the opening June 3 of the federal census of the prairie provinces.

Dr. Lemieux arrived in Edmonton Thursday from the east.

THIS SUMMER'S census will be the first since 1941. A Canada-wide census is taken every 10 years and a census of the prairie region is made every five years.

Dr. Lemieux will conduct instructional sessions with the commissioners here, outlining various methods of proceeding with the heavy task of counting western residents. He expected these sessions would last two or three days.

Following the meetings in Edmonton, the commissioners will return to their communities where 50 to 100 census enumerators will be appointed in each case. Dr. Lemieux said some priority in these appointments would be given returned men.

PRESENT FOR the gathering in Edmonton were Edward C. Fisher, East Edmonton; George A. Campbell, West Edmonton; C. J. Schurter, Peace River; Donald MacLeod, Jasper-Edson; H. B. Christie, Vegreville; R. W. Camrose, Camrose; and James D. Adam, KC, of Battle River. Other commissioners representing the ridings at Wetaskiwin and Athabasca, were expected to arrive during the day.

From War-Torn Europe to City, Accordianist to Perform Here To Perform

GABY HAAS

Gaby Haas, 25-year-old piano-accordianist of 11948 79 street, this week was looking back on his experiences in war-torn Europe as he prepared to embark on a new, daily radio show which will feature talent described as unusual.

ATHLETE, agriculturalist and expert og at least six languages, Gaby Haas got out of his native Franzensbad, Bohemia, just in time to escape the advancing Hitlerite army in 1939. At the time he was studying agriculture in the Eger college near Franzensbad. His parents had left for Canada some time previously.

Gaby packed up his text books and his accordian and headed for Poland. He crossed that country, got into France, then across the channel to England. Canada was his next stop. He's been in Edmonton since 1940.

HE RETURNED to Edmonton last fall from Montreal, where he had entertained the patrons of night clubs and floor shows. Since then he's been teaching music and doing part-time radio work.

Gaby is a former table tennis and hockey star in Europe, and in addition, in Europe won a reputation in the fields of soccer, tennis and swimming. In 1939 he played hockey against the Trail, B.C. Smokeaters when that aggregation was touring Europe.

MARRIED TO the former Dorothy Anderson of Edmonton, Gaby and his wife reside with his parents. His father, Hugo Haas, is superintendent of the Hayward Lumber Company here. A brother recently returned from service overseas with the RCAF.

For Lost Wallets, Teeth President

They May Be Among Goods For Auction

Be Sure to Check Police

By KEN METHERAL

Have you lost a wallet recently? Or maybe a pair of false teeth? If so, chances are they are awaiting collection at the city police station where accountant Horace S. Reynolds is beginning to check and list articles for the annual police sale of unclaimed articles which will be held within the next month.

THE LARGEST single item of "lost" articles is about 100 wallets, a large number of which have no identification marks on them. There are large wallets and small ones and they are in a wide assortment of colors and designs.

Many wallets contain registration certificates, unemployment certificates, service discharge papers and photographs while an odd one contains money. One or two even contain love letters.

THE HETEROGENEOUS collection of unclaimed goods runs from fountain pens to car tires. There is a box of poultry leg bands, a couple of pay books, false teeth, suitcases and kithags full of clothing and a partly used 1945 liquor permit belonging to Alex Pennycook of 9924 106 street.

Police thought they were going to have a baby buggy complete with blankets and pillow for sale, but the worried owner turned up to claim it after it had lain in the police station for more than a week. But a big roll of roofing paper brought in two or three weeks ago is still unclaimed.

Accountant Reynolds said the sale would probably be held within the next month at one of the open air auction sales in the city and will be advertised before the sale.

IF YOU ARE THE owner of one of the following unclaimed wallets you had better call for them early before the sale is held:

Howard Beacon, Hinton; Julia Berehuka, 1304 107 street; Jean Boutin, RCAF; T. J. A. Brown, Salvation Army Hostel; Frederick Chatel, Wetaskiwin; William Dufresne, Union Hotel; William V. Eimiski, 12036 62 street.

F. M. Gagnon, 10068 87 street; John Gordulic, Beverly; Edgar Gould, 11308 93 street; Julia Goveski, 9648 103A avenue; Steve Kachur, St. Michael; M. Lazarianko, 10737 102 avenue; Miss Margaret Massey 7906 83 avenue; Violet Mies, Trochu; Gilbert Olson, 50 Connors Road; Lars Onakson, North Star Rooms; Joe Pacori, 9625 100A street; Olaf Peterson, Waverly Rooms; James Leonard Pettit, 11910 Fort Trail and Douglas Stewart, 10206 122 street.

INCLUDED AMONG the large number of registration cards awaiting collection at police headquarters are those belonging to Denis Patrick Hanlon, Bremner; Lydia C. C. Lucas, Wetaskiwin; Ellen Nielsen, 12221 89 street; Margaret Sadeski, Mundare and Edmund Pierre Toupin, 12812 124 street.

Plan Development Of Water Projects

Announcement that $10,000,000 would be spent by the Prairie Farm Administration this year on irrigation projects most of which centre in Alberta was made in the Ottawa House of Commons by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture.

PART OF THIS sum was to be spent in survey and engineering work for promotion of the Red Deer division, part of it for irrigation in the Medicine Hat area and the remainder for the construction of a dam on the South Saskatchewan river.

Provincial government officials feel that a large part of the expenditure will be made on the extension of the Canada Land and Irrigation project, for which negotiations are already well advanced. Ratification of any scheme approved would be required from irrigation company officials in the United Kingdom and both of the governments concerned.

THE RED DEER river diversion project is one of particular interest in this area however, though this year's expenditure on it will not be large. It is thought that it heralds the commencement of the ambitious irrigation envisioned by the late William Pearce, which would bring water to dried lands extending from Saskatoon to Hanna.

Organizer

D. A. Grout, former Edmonton resident, who organized the Diamond Jubilee parade here in 1938, has been named to organize Vancouver's Dominion Day Diamond Jubilee parade. Mr. Grout is a former member of the city council, and on retiring from business, moved to Vancouver.

Government Goods Evidence in Trial

Edmonton's courthouse Thursday assumed the atmosphere of a miniature quartermaster's stores as RCMP and Provost Corps officers placed in evidence a quantity of goods bearing the "broad arrow" mark of government property in the trial of Alex Kuwica, Hilo district farmer, charged with retaining possession stolen property.

THE OPENING of the court was delayed for more than an hour as the articles exhibited by police officers at the accused's farm home on Dec. 21 last were unpacked and stacked in piles for submission as evidence. The actual placing of the articles in evidence occupied the court for approximately one hour.

Articles found at the accused's home included 27 shirts, five sweaters, eight blankets, numerous pillowslips, 13 coveralls, five drill pants, nine battledress trousers, 18 summer shirts, 38 towels, nine pairs of boots, a large quantity of knives, forks and spoons, and a quantity of shoe repair materials.

THE ACCUSED, it was stated in evidence, was a member of the armed forces until August, 1945. The hearing is presiding with Guy Patterson, KC, prosecuting, and C. A. Edwards, defending.

Honor President Of Bible Society

In recognition of his 26 years of service as president of the Northern Alberta Auxiliary, W. H. Sterne has been made honorary life governor of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada and Newfoundland.

THIS OUTSTANDING honor is conferred only upon persons whose work and devotion on behalf of the society covers a considerable period of years. Mr. Sterne is only the second individual in the North Alberta Auxiliary upon whom this distinction has been conferred. The other honorary life governor in the Bible Society in the Dominion is Mrs. H. O. T. Burkwall.

IN 1935 MR. STERNE received a similar recognition when he was made an honorary life governor of the British and Foreign Bible Society in London, England. During Mr. Sterne's term of office the North Alberta Auxiliary purchased and financed the present Bible House. The difficult times of the depression were adequately met and in view of conditions then, good work was done.

Now, during his last year of office the auxiliary has experienced its best year since its inception in 1916. The sum of almost $19,000 was forwarded to the central office, Toronto, during 1945.

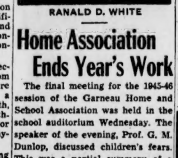

MR. STERNE RETURNED from Toronto a few days ago where he and the district secretary, Rev. E. J. Heuer, attended the general board meeting. While in Toronto he was presented with a beautifully bound Bible, which was inscribed with sincere tribute to the services he rendered the society for over a quarter of a century.

Home Association Ends Year's Work

The final meeting for the 1945-46 session of the Garneau Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium Wednesday. The speaker of the evening, Prof. G. M. Dunlop, discussed children's fears.

This was a partial summary of a survey made in the Garneau district by members of Mr. Dunlop's University class. The survey showed that the greatest number of fears were of the dark, of animals and of falling. The fear of falling appears unusually high in children in this city, and was attributed to the High Level bridge. A high percentage also showed a fear of dogs. Fear of parents and teachers was practically non-existant, and the fear of accident was not high.

Lois Grant recited "Canada" and "The Middle Sister", and Berneice McBeth — accompanied by Mrs. Joyce Lees Moore—sang Through the Years and Friend of Mine.

The election of officers for the next year gave the following slate: Honorary president, Harry Ainlay, a former principal of Garneau school; president, Ranald White, KC; vice-president, Prof. Andrew Stewart, 2nd vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Thornton; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Might; treasurer, William Wilson; committee conveners, Mrs. E. F. Donald, Mrs. W. E. Webber, and Mrs. F. Owens; group leaders, J. W. Mosley and H. C. Watson.

Draft Constitution For Farm Groups

First draft of a proposed constitution for the guidance of Alberta's three major farm organizations when they amalgamate, was drawn up during the two-day session of members of the contact committee of the Alberta Farmers' Union, United Farmers of Alberta and the Alberta Federation of Agriculture held Tuesday and Wednesday in the Corona hotel.

DETAILS OF the draft constitution were not released for publication and will first be submitted to member bodies of the federations of farm organizations, following which the redrafted copy will be made public.

In a press statement issued Thursday the contact committee said satisfactory progress had been made during the meeting, and that the committee will convene again just before harvest time.

Representing about 800 locals of the Alberta Farmers' Union, the board of directors of that organization fill convene in Edmonton for four days, beginning April 15, UFA officials said today.

THE UFA executive was to meet Thursday afternoon for its regular monthly business session.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Bobby Sockers Advised To Use Discretion

A Group of Bobby-Sockers Ask for Pointers About Letter Writing in General, and Especially Are Desirous of Knowing How to Write

A group of bobby-sockers ask me if I will give them pointers about letter writing in general, and especially are they desirous of knowing how to write letters to boys. Glad to, girls, and it pleases me to know that you youngsters are taking up letter writing in a serious way, for it is one of the most useful accomplishments that any woman can have.

The ability to write a graceful little bread-and-butter letter gets many a girl a return invitation for a week-end, while the failure to acknowledge a gift, or to express appreciation of a some courtesy shuts the door she would like to have opened to her in many another girl's face. Friends and opportunities are made and lost by a postage stamp.

OF COURSE, in its higher brackets, letter writing is a gift, like a talent for singing or playing bridge or cooking, but you don't have to be a professional to turn out a letter that will be a credit to you and a delight to its recipient, and here are a few basic rules for you to follow:

In the first place, learn to write a legible hand. This is a busy world and few people have the time or the energy to try to decipher a letter that looks like a mess of Egyptian hieroglyphics. If your hand-writing is poor, use a typewriter.

The time has long since gone by when it was not considered good form to write a personal letter on the typewriter. Now-a-days the hand that does it, and that enables us to read what John or Mary had to say right off the page. Never, never, NEVER write a letter with a lead pencil unless you are stranded on a desert isle where there is neither ink nor pens.

IF YOU WANT to write an interesting letter, stick to the personal. Tell what your family and friends are doing. Spice it up with harmless gossip. All of us read the newspapers and we know what is happening in the big world, and what we yearn to hear is what is taking place at home. And, for heaven's sake, answer questions, which few people do. Nothing is so aggravating as a letter that ignores every query and tells us nothing that we want to know.

When you are angry or hurt it is a relief to write a letter to the one who has offended you and bawl him or her out good and proper. Say all the mean, bitter things you can think of in the letter, but never mail it. You will burn it up the next day and be so thankful you don't have to take back the things you wrote when you were mad.

As to writing love letters, the answer is DON'T. Ever. Unless the wedding day is set. And even then it is better to wait until after the ceremony. It is always a temptation to a girl to go poetic and romantic when she sits down before a nice big sheet of white paper and to write things she doesn't mean, and that chambermaids and the boys' mothers laugh over when they read them, and that often the girl's father has to buy back at a blackmailer's price.

And, finally, and if you forget all the other advice about letter writing, remember this: Don't write two letters to a boy's one, unless he is overseas, or sick so that he can't write.

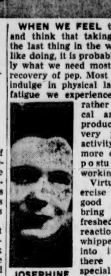

Why Grow Old?

by Josephine Lowman

Actress Suzi Crandall likes this exercise for relaxing. Josephine Lowman suggests most any exercise will help—but points out five excellent ones for this purpose in today's column.

WHEN WE FEEL terribly tired and think that taking exercise is the last thing in the world we feel like doing, it is probably just exactly what we need most for a quick recovery of pep. Most of us do not indulge in physical labor and the fatigue we experience is nervous rather than physical and is often produced by our very physical inactivity and our more or less fixed posture while working.

Virtually any exercise would be good and would bring you a refreshed, relaxed feeling since you whipped yourself into it. However, there are some special exercises which are particularly fine for relaxing after a tough day. Here are some of them:

1. Stand tall. Let your arms hang as you make circles with your shoulders. Circle forward a while and then backward.

2. SIT ON THE FLOOR with your legs out in front of you. Lean back on your hands. Lower your head backward slowly. Raise the head slowly. Let your head roll in circles, first in one direction and then in the other.

3. Stand with your feet comfortably apart, knees stiff. Bend forward with the trunk. Raise the arms and trunk upward. Arms are raised only to shoulder height and are relaxed and the lift comes from your rib cage so that you feel the stretch all the way down the abdomen. Continue.

4. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, reaching high over your head and then pulling back as your arms come down sideways. Continue circling your arms. Look up as your arms move upward.

5. KNEEL ON BOTH knees and place your hands on the floor. Your hands should be directly under your shoulders. Push up with the middle of your back just like a cat. Now collapse the back, sinking downwards in the middle back. Again slowly push up and collapse. All of these should be done in a lazy, relaxed manner. Add deep breathing to this routine and see how fine you feel.

If you wish to have my spinal exercises which are also relaxing send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request for leaflet No. 16 "Back Talk" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THERE ARE PRACTICES of feeding to which the mother is devoted which deviate from the standard patterns and are therefore undesirable. One of these is the habit of giving the baby his bottle between his regular feedings of solid foods.

IT MUST BE KEPT IN mind that milk is a food, not a beverage similar to a drink of water. When milk is served between meals it is the same as serving another meal. And the mother knows she would consider that a mistake.

A mother may give as an excuse for this practice the fact that the baby wants his bottle when he goes to sleep. She feeds him at 10 and 2 and 6 and then an hour afterwards he is ready to sleep so she gives him the milk then.

No matter how she figures it, she can just as well manage the day's program so the food and the sleep come one after the other, and the milk follows the meal as a matter of course.

SOMETIMES she says that it is because the baby is too full and doesn't want to drink all of his milk after he has eaten. In such case the amounts of solid foods need to be altered. If the baby is not overfed there is no difficulty getting him to eat his foods and then drink his milk, and that is the way it should be.

FROM THE MOMENT the child is introduced to solid foods these should come right before the regular bottle and can be increased gradually up to the point at which the baby balks at drinking all his milk. Then the amounts of foods should be kept below that figure.

The average baby is quite willing and able to take one or two or three tablespoons of cereal along with his 10 o'clock formula, some vegetables and egg yolk with the 2 p.m. bottle and cereal and fruit sauce with the night-time one.

IT SEEMS A SMALL MATTER but it is certain that the baby's digestion as well as his interest in good appetite suffers when he is fed as often as he is when meals and formula or milk comes at different hours.

Our leaflet No. 26 "Diet from One to Two Years," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Canol Equipment Put in Storage

Since the Canol project was abandoned all equipment used has been placed in storage and in the custody of the Imperial Oil company on behalf of the U.S. government, according to L. H. Phinney, special Canadian commissioner, northwest defense projects.

He was commenting on a report from a member of Operation Muskox that Canol camp on the Mackenzie river was a "ghost camp."

"THERE IS NOTHING very dramatic about the situation, Mr. Phinney commented, "most of those bush camps are 500 miles away from anyone and stuff stored is very rarely, if ever touched. That is the basis of the expected costs and therefore do not cover the expense.

WE AGREED, HOWEVER, in the conference that the present tenants, especially those returned men attending the university, could not afford to pay the additional rental's necessary to cover capital costs. The city has assumed quite a burden as a result and there is no city in Canada that has done as much for these returned men.

the commissioners were well aware that they did not in themselves have the power to sell the material. It merely meant that if such an agreement was the outcome of the investigation that as far as the city was concerned there would be no further delay.

I agree with Mr. Hooke that there has been throughout the best of co-operation between his department and the city and there is no need for that to cease. I am sure that the minister's statement was entirely due to a misunderstanding of what took place in the council meeting. This could have been cleared up by means of a phone call.

I AGREE WITH THE minister that the suites are much better than was at first considered and they have provided as good an accommodation as can be found in the city and I am personally convinced that all those who have obtained one of the suites think the same way. Due to delay in getting materials and the shortage of much of the expected material in the buildings suites at Dixon Creek made the venture very expensive. The rents were set on is the situation up there and it is not surprising that no caretakers were in evidence".

Equipment stored has all been inventoried, that which might be effected by rust has been thoroughly greased and the whole project might be regarded as a business venture, temporarily in stoppage which could be re-opened simply by re-manning the camps, he said.

Council Informed On Housing Units

A full report of the meeting between city and provincial government officials on discussions on the Dawson Creek housing project had been given to city council, Mayor Harry Ainlay stated Thursday. He was replying to a charge made on Wednesday by Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of reconstruction, that the mayor had failed to inform council of the decision.

MAYOR AINLAY said a full report of the meeting had been given to council and also it was reported that city and provincial government officials were examining the feasibility of completing other units of the project not yet under construction.

The mayor's statement on the subject was:

It is unfortunate that the Honorable Mr. Hooke took a brief newspaper account of the council meeting to base his criticism of city officials and the city council. Mr. Hooke complains in the press that the mayor and commissioners did not convey all of the facts regarding negotiations between the city and his department regarding the construction of the Dawson Creek suites.

THE REVERSE is true. I, personally, reported to council the meeting with the department of the government and that the final outcome was that an official of the department and the city architect were instructed to prepare a report as to the feasibility of completing the other units not yet under construction. It reported that the full matter of costs were examined and the possible loss already in the venture. Naturally the commissioners sought some indication of the council regarding the further possible cost of approximately $300,000 to complete the project.

It was agreed at the conference that if further building was not done that now was the time to dispose of the surplus material. In the event that this was the course taken, I asked council to give the commissioners the power to do so as time was an important element.

THE MOTION PASSED in council did just that. Both council and

Poll shows Kellogg's WIN AGAIN!

4 out of 5 vote them FIRST FOR FLAVOUR

AGAIN this year (the seventh year), in big cities and in country towns across the Dominion, independent interviewers put this question to housewives: "What brand of Corn Flakes tastes best?" Again more than 80% replied, "Kellogg's!" Maybe you were interviewed? . . . in any case, read what the folks below said. You'll see why people are making greater use of Kellogg's than ever before!

"That's an easy question! Kellogg's get my vote! They please all my family, any time of day. Kellogg's are grand after school or at bedtime. I give the children all they want : . . Kellogg's are so easy to digest. Economical too—less than a cent a serving!"

"My husband's a window-cleaner," said another housewife. "He likes a big bowl of Kellogg's. We both think their taste is way ahead of any other corn flakes. We often have them with lunch, and always at breakfast. I put some Kellogg's Corn Flakes into a mess loaf yesterday—it was delicious!" A treat anytime!

"It's one thing my family does agree on—Kellogg's are the finest-tasting corn flakes!" was this lady's reply. "I'm thankful I don't have to fuss with the stove to serve Kellogg's, either! But I do use them in my cooking . . . I make some special Kellogg's Corn Flakes cookies the men-folk just love!"

"A beauty operator notices things—like how often I see Kellogg's Corn Flakes in people's shopping bags! That flavour's for me, too," said this girl, whose day off it was when we called. "And Kellogg's are ready in only 30 seconds . . . with no sticky pots or pans to wash up afterwards!" Everyone likes them!

Resolve now to keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes on hand all the time! Serve them often . . . for any meal, for a snack any time of day! Enjoy them at bedtime. LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, April 11—(Reuters)—Trading on the London exchange today was more widespread than recently but in contrast to yesterday's hectic post-budget dealings, business was of a more premeditated character.

Home issues were outstanding with gilt-edged issues and industrials leading the parade. The oil market attracted considerable attention, particularly Anglo-Egyptian "B," which advanced on reported Egyptian buying.

Sales at Annual Spring Show Arouse Widespread Interest

Indicative of the keen interest being taken in the annual spring show sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association is the large crowd that assembled at the sale ring during the auction of the animals in the calf feeding and finished beef cattle classes. Above is seen Don Ball, Edmonton, asking for bids on a first prize winning group in the classes for best pen of 15 steers. Bidding at the sale was extremely brisk with prices ranging well above the current market. More than 500 attended the sale. Seen on the stand with Mr. Ball is J. W. Durno, Calgary, veteran auctioneer, who has officiated at Edmonton cattle sales for a number of years.

WINNIPEG, April 11.—(CP)—Rye futures gave an erratic display in trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and at the close were 3 to 2¾ cents a bushel lower.

After climbing the five cent limit in early dealings, the nearby months slumped near the close when selling credited to American account appeared in the market. October also showed weakness.

May finished at $2.60 bid, July at $2.46½ and October $1.93½ bid.

Export trade was limited to the sale of 375,000 bushels of wheat for shipment to the United Kingdom.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Demand dried up in today's stock market and leading shares beat a further retreat from recent highs. Sustained selling pressure was lacking and although a wide list of issues showed declines near the close, most losses among the leaders were limited to two points or less. Some special situation stocks managed to maintain gains.

Ask 40-Hour Work Week For Ontario

TORONTO, April 11—(CP)—An eight-point brief requesting a 40-hour week with no reduction in pay was submitted to Premier Drew at Queen's Park today by the Ontario Federation of Labor, which represents 150,000 workers of the Canadian Congress of Labor in Ontario. The brief suggested best means of enforcing a 40-hour week would be provision for time-and-a-half overtime pay for all hours worked above 40.

Review Planned Of Farm Labor

The farm labor supply situation for the coming year will be thoroughly reviewed at a meeting of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Board to be held Monday at the Legislative buildings, according to a department of agriculture announcement Thursday.

O. S. LONGMAN, deputy minister of agriculture, will preside at the committee sessions. Others who will be in attendance include H. R. Hare, employment advisor in agriculture, Ottawa; C. Retson, federal departmental official; W. Carnill, manager of the Edmonton office, employment commission and M. M. Gibson, employment service adviser, Edmonton.

It is expected that co-operation under the Dominion-provincial farm labor agreement will be continued for the coming year to meet farm labor needs.

An anticipated shortage of labor for the sugar-beet fields will be one of the problems to be faced by the committee.

Says Ottawa Asked To Attend Parley

The federal government has been invited to send a representative to confer with the Prairie Provinces Advisory Water Board according to Hon D. B. MacMillan, minister of Agriculture in reply to a statement made by Hon. J. A. Glen, minister of resources. Mr. Glen had told members of the Commons that the Dominion government was deeply interested in water conservation in the west, but that efforts to have a representative with the water Advisory Board for the senior government had been balked.

Following is Mr. MacMillan's statement:

"PRESS REPORTS from Ottawa would indicate some misunderstanding as to the purposes of the prairie provinces advisory water board, recently appointed by the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"Problems have arisen and will continue to arise in connection with the administration of inter-provincial streams, particularly these in Saskatchewan river drainage basin.

"THE PURPOSE of the above board is to jointly study these inter-provincial problems before any further large developments are proceeded with in order to advise the respective governments with regard to regulation, control, conservation, and beneficial use, with a view to determining a fair and reasonable use by each of the provinces.

"IT WILL BE THE PURPOSE of the board to confer with those committees or officials of the dominion responsible to the dominion-provincial conference on reconstruction and request has already been forwarded to Alex Skelton, secretary of the co-ordinary committee of the above conference, for the appointment of a representative or representatives to confer with the board for the purpose of clarifying certain proposals which were submitted to the dominion-provincial conference on reconstructions held at Ottawa in August, 1943."

The trio was charged with participating in a barracks riot Feb. 9 during which one Negro prisoner was killed and several persons injured.

Driving "As He Pleases" Costly

Checked by Police, "Curb Cruiser" Speeds Off, But Gets $25 Fine

A truck driver who told police he would drive "how, when and where he wanted to" was fined $25 and costs when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Millar, KC, in city court Thursday on a speeding charge. Alternative sentence was 35 days in jail.

IN HIS EVIDENCE Constable S. L. Edmunds of the city force stated that he stopped a truck being driven by the accused, Louis Kitt, last April 4 at 5:25 a.m. and warned him against "curb cruising." The truck drove off at a high rate of speed, the constable testified, adding that he again stopped the driver a few minutes later and warned him about speeding.

The accused stated that he "bought his own gas, oil and license and would drive how, when and where he wanted to—that his driving speed was 40 mph and he would drive 40 mph," the constable testified. Speed of the truck was estimated at between 45 mph and 50 mph.

I DIDN'T HAVE NO ACCIDENT—no nothing," Kitt stated when he entered the witness box. He told the court he thought the speed limit was 40 mph in the city.

"You had better find out what the traffic laws are and obey them, for if there is any more trouble with you and your driving, you will have no driving license," Magistrate Millar commented.

"If you had answered the questions asked on the driving license application form truthfully, you would know the speed limit," the magistrate said.

The speed limit on city streets is 25 mph.

Accused Committed To Supreme Court

Alex Semeniuk was committed for trial in supreme court when he appeared in city police court on a charge of false pretenses. He is accused of having arranged for the delivery of a threshing machine to a party other than himself by issuing a worthless cheque for $861.90.

ACCORDING TO evidence presented by the crown, Gabriel Scarupa of Grassland purchased a threshing machine from Waterloo Machinery Ltd., 10249 109 street, last Sept. 17 for which he paid $238.10 in cash. Semeniuk, who was with Scarupa, gave a cheque for $861.90 to cover the remainder of the payment, saying that he owed the purchaser that amount.

The case was heard as a preliminary trial and bail was set at $1,000.

Prize Livestock Sold to Eatons

The champion Shorthorn calf in the calf feeding competition at the annual spring show sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association and exhibited by Bert Shantz, Wetaskiwin, was purchased by The T. Eaton Company (Western) Limited, the purchase price being 62 cents a pound.

THE COMPANY also purchased the grand champion of the show in the commercial classes for 55 cents a pound, and made extensive purchases of other animals in the calf feeding and commercial classes. The grand champion was exhibited by Lawrence and Joe Kallal, Tofield. Lawrence won the grand champoinship of the show last year, and that animal was purchased by The T. Eaton Company.

The bidding at the sale was extremely brisk and prices ranged at a substantial premium above the current market. Purchases were made by commission houses on behalf of outside interests, and several Calgary buyers attended the sale.

OTHER PURCHASERS of fat cattle were Safeways Ltd., Swift Canadian Co., Canada Packers Ltd., Burns and Co., Gainers Ltd., King Edward hotel, R. Lotoski, Innisfree, Alberta Livestock Co-operative, Ketchum Bros., Calgary, Chester Gainers plant, Weiller Williams, O. A. Brown and Co.

Vermilion River To Have Council

Administration of the municipal district of Vermilion River is to be in the hands of a council again, as soon as it is possible for the department of municipal affairs to make a new alignment of voting divisions within the district to reduce the number of councillors, according to an announcement Thursday by Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs.

THE REDUCTION in the number of councillors will result in the breaking of the deadlock over the location of council offices, which resulted in the dismissal of the previous council and the appointment of an administrator by the department.

"It will probably take some time before the new council takes over its duties," Mr. Gerhart said, "but we will be starting within the next week with the work of realignment."

No announcement was made as to the number of councillors to be elected, but the minister said that there would be less than ten, which was the size of the previous council.

Cabinet to Consider Proposals on AGT

Consideration will be given by the provincial cabinet to representations made to Premier Ernest Manning by Commissioners John Hodgson and D. B. Menzies relative to the proposed moving of the Alberta Government Telephones' head office to Calgary. Commissioner John Hodgson stated that Premier Manning had been extremely co-operative, and had promised the matter would be considered by the provincial council. He said that the efforts of the city to obtain a suitable site for the proposed building had been outlined to the premier.

Banquet Honors Retiring Workers

At a banquet in the Macdonald hotel Wednesday evening, the Edmonton Electrical Contractors Association were hosts to William Barnhouse and William Cardy, veteran civic employees.

MR. BARNHOUSE is retiring from the position of superintendent of the city light department, a post he has held for 17 years. He is also the oldest civic employee having been in the service for 45 years. Mr. Cardy is completing 39 years service with the city as commercial manager.

Colin Allan, Edmonton electrician, in making a presentation to Mr. Barnhouse referred to the long and friendly association between Mr. Barnhouse and the electrical contractors of Edmonton. Mr. Barnhouse in replying said he came to Edmonton in 1900, and told many interesting and amusing anecdotes of his early days in the city. He thanked the electrical contractors and electrical men generally for the co-operation he had received during his connection with them.

R. MacKILLOP in making a presentation to Mr. Cardy referred to his 39 years of service with the city and paid tribute to his constantly helpful attitude. Mr. Cardy, replying, also referred to the harmony that has existed between his department of the Edmonton electrical trade, and recalled old times and incidents.

A. E. Ormsby spoke on behalf of the Edmonton electrical jobbers. He read a telegram from the district manager of the General Electric Company, R. S. Trowsdale, expressing good wishes to Mr. Barnhouse and Mr. Cardy.

A. BURRELL called for the thanks of the meeting to Stan Sunley, R. Crowle and R. MacKillop for their work as conveners of the banquet.

Songs and instrumental numbers were provided by Jack Jones, Lilly Taylor and Bill Smith.

Approve Veterans Purchase of Homes

Three hundred and thirty-six homes with a total value of $972,890 were approved for purchase during the year from March, 1945, to March, 1946, by the appraisal branch of the department of veterans' affairs, while 127 homes with a total value of $455,745 were not approved, according to figures released Thursday by J. W. Proctor, district administrator, DVA.

MR. PROCTOR STATED "during the past month an increase has been noted in the number of unsatisfactory housing units offered for sale to veterans. In ten cases veterans have obligated themselves, without reference to this department, to purchase homes at a price far above the actual value of the residence.

"While real estate dealers in Edmonton, generally speaking, have been most generous and considerate with veterans attempting to purchase homes," said Mr. Proctor, "a few are taking advantage of the serious housing shortage and the fact that many younger veterans are new in the business world."

The DVA official pointed out that the Edmonton Citizens' Committee has been very active in bring offending dealers to justice and are continuing and increasing their efforts.

ALL VETERANS are strongly urged by Mr. Proctor and other DVA officials to contact the department before entering into any agreement regarding the purchase of a home.

Splendid Opportunity for LIFE INSURANCE MEN
In Monthly Division Office

Already established in Edmonton and this Company has 5 millions of business in force in the City of Edmonton alone. Monthly Division is business written with premiums payable monthly and collections made. Standard business also written with premiums payable quarterly, half-yearly, or yearly. Substantial weekly salaries are paid to representatives for maintenance of home, and liberal commissions paid monthly. Some of our men average $200 per month in commissions alone over and above salary, and every representative should do that after his business is established. Would prefer men 27-48 years of age. Previous experience in this class of business an advantage, but not by any means essential. This is grand opportunity with a company 33 years old, Dominion charter and license, in exceedingly sound financial position and, for men who prove themselves, future opportunities as managers. This company is presently engaged in a program to greatly accelerate the Company's progress. Many more Branch Offices will be established as soon as accommodation can be obtained and our men will be given first chance providing they have fitted themselves for advancement. Our field men are not given a rate book and supplies and cast out upon the world. Our system will enable active, industrious men to make a substantial livelihood and it is certainly worth investigating, strictly as a permanent occupation. Box 33 Bulletin.

Man Gets $10 Fine For Starving Stock

LINDSAY, Ont., April 11.—(CP)—For failing to provide proper shelter, food and water for his livestock, Elmer Jewell, 49-year-old farmer of nearby Little Britain, yesterday was fined $10 and costs or 30 days in jail. Evidence was that a calf was so hungry it started to eat a horse's tail. "Can you imagine a calf eating a horse's tail unless it was hungry?" asked Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson. "The calf did that because it tasted the salt in the horse's tail," replied Mrs. Jewell, wife of the accused.

At the evening parade of the association here, Mr. Bennett will present commandery votes of thanks to D. McCarthy of No. 61 Division, and Cpl. B. D. Peck, RCMP, in recognition of their first aid work with the local brigade.

West End School Festivals Begin

Hundreds of children from grades one and two thronged Westglen auditorium Tuesday as the first session of the west-end regional, non-competitive, school festivals got underway.

THE PROGRAM included a physical education display by Westmount, ten other items of chorus, singing games, choral speech and numbers by the Oliver Rhythm band. The schools participating were Calder, Westmount and Oliver.

Commenting on the physical education display, Tom Noonan, former program director for the American Red Cross here, commended the children on their fine efforts.

Teachers in charge of Tuesday's program were: Miss I. Scorgie, Miss G. Richards, Miss E. Symington, Miss J. C. Buchanan, Mrs. E. Loudfoot, Miss E. McArthur, Miss M. Flemming, Miss T. Radke, Miss O. McKin and Miss G. Christie. Chairman was M. Grant.

ON WEDNESDAY afternoon a similar program was put on by the grade four, five and six students, under the chairmanship of R. D. Taylor.

A highlight of the afternoon's performance was the singing of Good Morning Lords and Ladies by the massed choirs from Oliver, Glenora and Calder. This was conducted by N. Eagleson, supervisor of school music in Edmonton.

The teachers directing the program under the leadership of the zone chairman Miss Grace Mersereau were: Miss MacLaren, Miss I. Nash, Miss M. Livingstone, Miss Campbell, R. G. McDiarmid and A. Stockwell.

FOLLOWING THE festival, comments on the efforts of the children and on the instruction of the teachers were given by Mrs. G. Higgin and Mrs. Kay Preston.

Defer Decisions Airway Licenses

Decision was deferred by members of the Dominion Air Transport Board here Wednesday following all day sittings in the courthouse to receive submissions on applications for air line licenses in northern Alberta and Northwest Territories.

THE TWO-MAN BOARD consisting of Allan Ferrier, chairman, and J. P. R. Vachon, received written briefs and oral submissions on behalf of Northern Flights Ltd., a company seeking license to operate non-schedule, charter services at Peace River and Yellowknife and at Edmonton and Fort St. John.

Jack Moar, Bruce Reid and others are identified with the applicant company.

Another application for a license from Peace River and Northern Air Lines Ltd., for renewal of a former license, not utilized during the war years, was received in brief form and will be given consideration by the board.

THIS APPLICATION is for non-schedule, charter service from bases at Peace River and Yellowknife.

Notice had been given of an application from Streamline Airways Ltd. but no one appeared for the company, chairman Ferrier said the board would consider the application still proper if it were shown that the company was not represented through no fault of its own.

Application of Northern Flights Ltd., was opposed by CP Air Lines and Associated Airways Ltd.

Grant McConachie, general manager of CP Air Lines Western Lines, expressed the view that additional licenses could not operate at profit.

HE QUOTED FROM company statistics concerning costs of operation for various types of aircraft, in the Yellowknife and other northland areas.

He expressed the view that the country is adequately served now for all business that can be expected during the coming summer.

A similar view was taken by T. P. Fox, president of Associated Airways, and F. Armour Ford, KC, counsel for the company, which also operates a charter service out of Yellowknife.

C. A. Edwards was counsel for Northern Flights Ltd. He pointed out that while Associated Airways claimed there is not sufficient business to warrant a new license, officials admitted they were purchasing additional aircraft for work this summer.

A PETITION requesting additional air services in the Yellowknife area, signed by 100 trappers, traders and prospectors, was placed before the board by the applicant Northern Flights Ltd.

Edmonton Boat Building Plant Makes Craft for North Waters

A river boat, just completed by the Alberta Motor Boat Company Limited, and now on blocks in the company's yard, soon will be plying adventurous rivers and lakes of the north country, it was revealed in an interview Wednesday with the company owner, J. W. Weir.

THE CRAFT IS OWNED by the Socony Vacuum Exploration company, a unit of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and will sail under the charge of Dr. Sylvia, a geologist of the oil company.

The boat, 40 feet long with a 13-foot beam and an over-all height of 16 feet, is equipped with a 155 h.p. motor, a two-to-one reduction gear, a 20-inch propeller and twin rudders.

The craft is built with all controls in the pilot house so that it can be handled by one man. She can accomodate nine men for approximately eight months of sailing, according to Mr. Weir. The weight is about 14 tons.

A SEPARATE ELECTRIC plant to provide power for lights and a radio transmitter and receiver are to be installed.

Mr. Weir stated that the craft will be transported from the shipyard here near the low level bridge, to Dawson Creek by railroad. From there it will be hauled across country to Fort Nelson and will be launched at that point where she will travel for the first time under her own power.

Another boat being built at the shipyard is for Dan McLeod, a trapper at Aklavik, and will be 36 feet in length and nine feet wide. It will be powered with a 60 h.p. motor. Plans also are being prepared for a 24 foot cruiser for Magistrate Fred Fraser of Yellowknife. It will be equipped with a 70 h.p. engine.

TOP FLOOR of the company's building is stocked with dog sleds ready for shipment to the north. Mr. Weir says that between boats and dog sleds it keeps a staff of ten busy trying to keep pace with orders. The company finds it hard to obtain men who have a good knowledge of the shipbuilding trade.

Veteran Operator of Elevator Retires

Life of "Ups and Downs" Comes to End for City Man

A life of ups and downs has just come to a close for Dennis "Dan" Collins, 10217 95 street, who recently retired following nearly 27 years service as elevator operator at the post office building here.

MR. COLLINS, who will be 72 years old next month, was presented with a billfold containing stamps, street car tickets and some of money, by the employees of the income tax department, whose offices are in the post office building on the fourth floor, at a brief ceremony Wednesday afternoon. The presentation was made by G. W. Northfield, inspector of income tax.

Both Mr. Northfield and A. E. Ladler assistant inspector of income tax, gave a brief history of Mr. Collin's career and paid high tribute to the services he has rendered the department, namely various services besides the running of the elevator.

MR. COLLINS was born in Kent, England. He came to Canada in 1884, when he was 16 years old and settled in Ontario, moving west to Edmonton in 1905.

He was first employed in the city by the Hutchiness Lumber Company and in 1919 he commenced his duties as elevator operator in the post office. He served overseas during 1914-18 with the 49th Battalion.

The veteran employee said that he and his wife were undecided as yet whether to continue their residence in the city or to move to Victoria, B.C.

MR. COLLINS, when asked what he would do with his time, stated, "The first three weeks will be all right and then I expect I will start to get pretty restless. However, during the summer months I expect gardening will take up quite a bit of my time."

Ask Dominion Aid On Stock Sale Ring

Pressure will be increased on the Dominion government for a sizable financial contribution toward the construction of a new stock pavilion and sale ring at the exhibition grounds, it was stated Wednesday by R. W. Price, vice-president of the Edmonton Exhibition Association Limited.

MR. PRICE SPOKE to more than 250 men and women who have entries in the Edmonton Spring Livestock Show, and who were guests of the Exhibition Association at a noon dinner in the Arena coffee room.

Terming the present facilities unsuitable, Mr. Price said, "we need and we are going to have a stock pavilion and sale ring that will adequately represent Edmonton and Northern Alberta for the next 25 years."

Livestock was one of the Dominion's chief resources and northern Alberta was definitely a section of the Dominion responsible for its volume production. Due to this it was felt the Dominion government should be asked to shoulder a considerable share in the construction of stock show facilities in keeping with the importance of the large agricultural district represented by Edmonton.

A RESOLUTION requesting the financial contribution from the Dominion was read to the large gathering and at the close of the banquet it received endorsation in the form of signatures to a petition.

C. E. Wilson, managing director, extended the welcome of the board to the visiting stockmen and women. He also spoke to the resolution.

Cemetery Is Sued For Burying Dog

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11—(AP)—A group of plot owners filed suit yesterday for an order compelling immediate removal of the body of a pet dog buried beside the body of its master in a 100-year-old cemetery in the nearby town of Carmel. Defendants are Mrs. Norah M. Brax of Speedway City, charged with having a female collie buried beside her late husband; the Carmel Cemetery Association and its trustees. The suit says the dog's burial is "An offensive and disgusting display of lack of respect for the honored, admired and beloved men, women and children who were laid to rest by their families."

"Accidental Fall" Caused Movie Death

LOS ANGELES, April 11—(AP)—Coroner's jury yesterday found Edward Gray, 31, studio employee found dying after a party on a movie set last Wednesday night was killed by an accidental fall while intoxicated. Police had first thought he might have been a homicide victim. Gray was found in a pool of blood on the General Service Studio lot after a party celebrating completion of a picture, "Angel on My Shoulder," a story of murder and phantasy. He lay near a 65-foot backdrop depicting the gateway to Hell.

Fainting Woman Got Butter Quota

PORTLAND, Me., April 11.—(AP)—A woman fainted as she waited her turn in a butter line yesterday—but she got her butter. The merchant revived her with a glass of water, assisted her into a taxi, and added the finishing touch —a gift of a half-pound of butter.

Plaster "Horse" Alarms Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, April 11.—(CP)—It looked like a horse—so much in fact that would-be street car passengers were frightened off a safety island on a downtown Winnipeg street Tuesday night.

However, it wasn't a horse—just a life-sized plaster effigy of one which had been placed on the street by a prankster.

Find Most Children In Quebec Families

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)—Quebec families average the largest number of children—2.82, compared with a Canadian average of 2.35—it was reported in information tabled yesterday in the commons. Compiled from records of family allowance payments, the report showed New Brunswick in second place with 2.66 and British Columbia last with 1.92.

Army Officials Start North Tour

A group of officers, including Col. T. E. Snow, district officer commanding, MD 13, left Edmonton Thursday morning on an inspection trip of northern army corps posts. The party will be away for approximately six days and are making the trip in an RCAF aircraft.

Stations to be visited include Fort Smith, Yellowknife, Norman Wells, Wrigley, Fort Nelson, Fort St. John, Dawson Creek and Grande Prairie.

Besides Col. Snow, the party is made up of Lt.-Col. R. W. Hale, MC, ED, Edmonton garrison commandant; Major C. Tate, GSOI, and Capt. A. M. Stirton.

Road Ahead

the middle would be making a big profit.

But War Assets have ruled that the provincial government's priority was intended to cover only those things which were to be used by one of the government's departments, and didn't entitle them to buy goods for re-sale.

Their second objection, which is a little harder to follow, was: "The possibility of the provincial government securing a priority on supplies for re-sale would also fairly well eliminate the possibility of making or maintaining equal distribution across the territories or by provinces, unless all provinces followed the same set-up which, in turn, would eliminate any advantage from priorities."

WAR ASSETS, in most cases where consumer goods are involved at the present time, sell direct to the wholesale trade, or recognized dealers. These dealers, I am sure, make more than the two per cent. the province intends to charge for the service. War Assets don't want to go into the retail business. I can understand that. But I can't understand them when they won't let the province go into the retail business if they want to. It wouldn't cost War Assets anything. They could get just as much for their goods as they are getting now. And the provincial marketing services would be the ones who had the headaches.

Nobody can deny that War Assets have a huge—and thankless—task ahead of them. Nobody in his right senses would envy them their job. Nobody expects them to be able to do it without laying themselves open to criticism from one side or the other from time to time.

THEY HAVE STATED that their policy is to get rid of saleable surplus goods at market prices in a manner which will prevent speculation, prevent disruption of ordinary markets and employment, distribute sales evenly across Canada, reach the public by the shortest feasible route, and control prices and recover for the taxpayers the largest possible cash return for their investment.

But where the offer is made by the provincial government runs afoul of any of these intentions I cannot see. In fact, it seems to me that it would ensure these things—and enable the corporation to do a better and more satisfactory job. Nor would it necessarily result in the province getting an unfair share of the surplus supplies.

The only interpretation which I am able to put on the corporation's decision is that it is more interested in keeping the regular trade channels provided with a means of making an easy profit, than it is with giving the public a chance to get the goods which they require.

NOT THAT I HAVE ANY objection to profits—but most normal trade channels are pretty busy as things are—the War Assets goods aren't that important to them.

Western Union Co. Is Not Paying Way

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—J. L. Egan, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, told the annual meeting of stockholders yesterday the concern now is operating at a deficit and faced serious problems but "we believe they can be solved. For the first two months of this year," he said, "the deficit was approximately $4,500,000, of which about $2,100,000 represents the cost of our strike in New York." Members of the American Communications Association (CIO) struck Jan. 8 and voted to return to work Feb. 11. Mr. Egan added that WU had applied to the Federal Communications Commission for authority to increase rates as one means of ending deficit operations.
